NATIONAL POLITICS IN MANY STATES

Vermont Gives the Reed Men a Great Shock-A Strong McKinley Resolution Adopted.

Jackson, Miss., April 29 .- The democratic state convention of Mississippi was the smoothest and most harmonious ever witnessed in this city. It was due to the fact that four or five hundred delegates present were all, or nearly all, of one way of thinking on the only question, the single issue that has been discussed in Mississippi for two or three years-the question of finance.

On account of this unanimity very little interest was manifested in the selection of delegates by the several counties, and no enthusiasm or excitement was perceptible on the floor of the convention. Every man knew so well about what was going to be done that there was no trouble about doing what they wanted done, and they got right down to business. Chairman Williamson, of the state committee called the convention to order at 11:30 o'clock. A recess was taken from : till 3 o'clock and by 4:30 o'clock the work was completed. The convention then adjourned, and the delegates got right out of the convention had reconvened at 3 o'clock, Colonel Money submitted the following, which was unanimously adopted: which was unanimously adopted:

Hon. H. L. Muldrew, of Oktibbeha coun ty, was unanimously elected chairman of convention. He is the president of the National Bank of Starkville, but, strange to say, a red-hot advocate of the free coin age of silver. In taking the chair, Colonel Muldrew expressed the opinion that the free coinage wing of the party would control the Chicago convention, and if they did, and embodied a strong and unequive cal free coinage plank in the platform along with tariff for revenue only, the democracy would win, othewise not. congratulated the state of Mississippi on being one of the first to declare for free coinage, and declared that no state had better right to urge its principles before the convention at Chicago.

"It is a regretable fact that the democra cy is divided on this paramount question said. "I hope to see it settled one way or the other."

Ringing Resolutions Adopted. The charman appointed a committee sixteen on platform and resolutions, wi Senator-elect Money as chairman, and whe

"Resolved, By the democrats of Mississippi, in convention assembled, That we favor an unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action or co-operation of any other nation, and we hereby instruct our delegates to the national convention to be heid in Chicago in July next, to vote for a platform embodying those principles. And we further instruct said delegates to vote for no man for president or vice president who is not fully and unequivocally in favor of the principles above expressed.

A resolution by Mr. Chapman, of Sunflower, was adopted, declaring it the sense of the convention that Mississippi should be represented by congressmen and senators who are in accord with the platform adopt ed today. Mr. Chapman is from Congress man Catchings's district, and the resolution was aimed directly at him, and, incidentally at Mr. Denny and Mr. Spencer, who, in Mississippi parlance, are also "goldbugs." #### MICHIGAN DELEGATION MIXED. The Silver Men Secure Eleven of the Delegates Chosn.

Detroit, Mich., April 29.—The Michigan state democratic convention today, after a stormy fight, indersed the administration and financial policy of Grover C.eveland arge and sent a delegation of twenty-four district delegates to the Chicago convention of whom thirteen are counted gold mono-metallists and cleven silver bimetallists.

The convention was the stormiest ever held by the party in this state. The administration forces were led by Elliott G. Stevenson, the law partner of Don M. Dickinson, while their opponents were generaled by Thomas Barkworth, can-didate for congress in the second district two years ago.

The free coinage men agreed upon the choice of A. J. Murphy, administrationist, of Detroit, for temporary chairman, and in this way the administration forces se-cured control of the different committees. Backworth took exception to the order of business proposed by the committee on reslutions, insisting that the declaration of the platform should be made before the delegates at large were chosen. The motion to lay his amendment on the table was put to a vote by countles, which was the first test vote of the convention. Not until Wayne's 97 votes were called, last on the list, did the gold men have a majority. The result of this vote was in favor of tabling the Barkworth amendment, showing for the state, outside the first district, a majority for free silver.

There was an exciting fight over the delegates at large, the administration faction winning. Those named were Elliott C. Ste-venson, of Detroit; Thomas A. E. Weadock, of Bay City; Robert R. Blacker, of Manistee, and Peter White, of Marquette.
The fight was carried along to the resolu-

plank:
"On the finance question we recognize that this administration stands upon and has consistently carried out the platform of the national democratic convention of 1892, on which it was elected by the people, which declared that the parity of the metals in our currency should be maintained. The platform of the national convention on this question, which has carried the country overwhelmingly for our party, should be the democratic doctrine until another platform is formed by another national convention."

Mr. Smith was followed by Quincy Smith,

The Leaders See Their Followers Surely Leaving Them.

DEALS AND COUNTER-DEALS

And the Rank and File of the Party Is Disgusted.

WHERE EVERYBODY SEEMED DISSATISFIED

The Convention at Montgomery and Its Results-A Stormy Day-Fusion That Will Not Fuse.

Montgomery, Ala., April 29 .- (Special.)-The proceedings of the populist state convention today and the atmosphere and incidents surrounding the convention bear unmistakable evidence that the process of disintegration has set in within that party's ranks in Alabama. When the convention adjourned finally at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon it was evident that nobody was satisfied. Some had carried their points, but realized they had injured their party in so doing. Others had suffered defeat and considered that their defeat had carried with it a knock-out blow to the principles they had believed their party exemplified.

It was evidently a game in which everybody lost, and all intelligent participators and spectators are bound to realize, although they may not confess it, that the beginning of the end of the populist movenent in Alabama was reached today. Several months ago the populist leaders coqueted with the McKinley element of the republicans, looking to fusion in the state election. The anti-McKinleyites or Mosely's followers opposed the fusion. Then, for some reason, a change of heart came to the McKinley leaders. They dropped the populists, who in turn took up with the Moselyites, and since that time the leaders of this faction of republicans and the populist managers have been running hand in hand.

The rank and file of the populists have all along demurred at the dickerings with the republicans. They not alone appeased the holy allegiance on principle, but the frequent changes in the programme of combination caused them to look with suspi-cion on some of their leaders. A very large percentage of them weakened on their populist tendencies right there, and when the democracy, their old party, assembled here last week and adopted a free coinage, fair elections platform, it became at once evident that a large number of those who followed off after Kolb were almost persuaded to come back home.

Today's bungling action will furnish them a further reason and an abundant excuse for refusing to further follow leaders who have shown themselves to be more devoted to their own interests and aggrandizement than to the interests of the people and the principles they have professed to serve. When the conventions met here on vesterday only about half of the quota of populist delegates were here. All of the oldtime party leaders were among them. About five separate and distinct factions soon developed in the convention, as well as several free lances, who took delight in cutting and slashing all sides. The line demarkation was distinct, and showed tself in all the arguments made during the session of the convention.

Fusion the Bone of Contention.

The chief bone of contention was fusi or co-operation, as it was variously called About 40 per cent of the voting strength of the convention was unalterably opposed to this idea, a large number of the delegates having been specifically instructed by their county conventions to vote against any proposition looking toward fusion, and this spirit was so intense that on the nomination of a candidate for attorney general John Antony Winston Smith, of Jefferson, a republican, being the name before the convention, a roll call was demanded, and more than 20 per cen of the convention refused to vote for Smith.

At the anti-McKinley republican convenion yesterday a committee from the popu convention appeared bearing the flag of peace and requesting the applointment of a committee of conference with refernce to a union of action in the cominstate campaign. Such committee was forth-with appointed, and after consultation it was announced that an agreement to co perate had been reached, the details of which accorded to the Moselyites two, if not three, places on the state ticket were givn out.

On this showing the Moselvites adopted a resolution pledging themselves to sup-port the populist ticket. They even went o far that for fear of embarrassing the populists they cut their platform to one plank—a demand for honest elections. The Moselvites adjourned last night and went to their homes thinking the dea After the adjournment of the Mosely conventions, the populist managers opened negotiations with the McKinleyites, which were carried on without cessation and with varving chances of success until daylight the determination to put a straight repub-lican ticket in the field and an agreement to support the populist ticket, provided the two vacancies on that ticket should

The Populists Convene. The populist convention met at 9 o'cloc this morning. The committee appointed to confer with the McKinley republican con-vention, which reported that that convention had decided not to put a state ticker the field but would agree upon coation provided the populists would nominate for attorney general J. A. W. Smith, of Jefferson, son of ex-Governor Smith, one o Alabama's republican reconstruction ernors, and J. W. Grimmett, of Macon, for secretary of state. There was a large element in the conven tion opposed to co-operation generally, and particularly to the nomination of any men who would not specifically declare first for the populist platform and second Judge Stratton is one of the highest lieu-tenants and closest advisers of Chairman Moseley of the anti-McKinley wing, and he was very much in evidence at the Moseley convention in Hunter's warehouse yes terday. The McKinley convention, he said, contained a large ele-ment decidedly opposed to fusion and the proposition to fuse was adopted after long and arduous work; and that Messrs, Smith and Grimmett were the gentlemen agreed on for the vacant places on the ticket. He said he stood there to notify the convention that if Judge Strat-tor's name remained before it, he would withdraw the propostion made by his faction of the republican party and would withdraw from before the convention the names of Smith and Grimmett. Hon. Sam Adams then arose and placed in nomination for secretary of state Hon.

Mr. Turrentine posiively declined to allow his name to go before the convention, contending that as matters had gone so far the convention was in duty bound to nominate for the two positions the gentlmen suggested by the McKinley convention.

was also aimed at Major Hanson.

This work on the part of Pledger was very fruitful and Johnson developed such strength not only among the Reed combine forces, but also among the McKinley people, who are interested in the negro's advancement, that by the time the convention met it was almost impossible for the Buck machine to defeat him.

Colonel Buck's crowd claimed that they had an overwhelming majority in the convention and that they were not forced to allow a single Reed man on the ticket for state delegates.

Whether the Buck crowd were forced to give Johnson Hanson's place on the ticket or not is a disputed point, but that was what occurred. The McKinley crowd say that it was done in the interests of harmony and to cause a smooth convention, while the antis say it was a clean Pledger-Johnson victory.

The truth remains, Major Hanson was sidetracked for Pledger's law partner.

Where the Bolt Originated. Major Hanson was for many years editor and proprietor of The Macon Telegraph and he numbers his friends by the thousands Hanson would be left off the ticket. The slate was fixed up as follows for delegates at large: A. E. Buck, J. H. Deveaux, H. A. Rucker and H. L. Johnson. How this slate was fixed up is known to the leaders mended Colonel Buck's plan and declared that no better man than Major Hanson could possibly be found to lead the new among the delegates while the convention was in progress, and after it adjourned. The charges were of a general nature rather than a specific character, however. The slate named above was rushed through by acclamation, while the con-vention was in a pandemonium of excitevention was in a pandemonium of excite-ment and hundreds in the hall were in absolute ignorance of the fact that a vote had been taken on the question of delegates.

The election of Buck, Johnson, Deveaux and Rucker was satisfying to a certain element of the party "on the inside," but it created the greatest d ssatisfaction among a large element of the McKinley following. The great fight against the leaders of the McKinley movement had been made by Pledger and the Reed crowd, who are lieutenants to Pledger in this campaign, but when R. R. Wright, of Savannah, a leading McKinley advocate, was turned down for Johnson there was an uprising in the McKinley camp which had heretofore been perfectly peaceful, and this up-rising was the great feature of yesterday's years past and who are not inclined at this time to divide with a new element.

Pledger Pleads for Peace. Finally "Bill" Piedger mounted the stand and to the surprise of hundreds of his fol-lowers who have been helping him fight Colonel Buck, the Reed leader came out in an open indorsement of Buck for chair-

"My friends," said Pledger, "when you hear me second the nomination of Colonel Buck for chairman I am sure you will ecognize it as a prelude to peace. Colone Buck and I think there is something higher in republican politics than partisanship, and we hope to illustrate it today."

There was the utmost surprise depicted on the faces of Pledger's followers at these expressions, and some one near the speaker's table shouted "He's drunk! Take him At this some one of Pledger's faithful friend sbristled up in anger and shouted, "Who says Bill Pledger is drunk?" A very serious row began to brew and it looked as if there would be an all round fight. Peacemakers interfered before the quarrel developed too far. Pledger did not hear the racket between his friends and enemies, for he was in the midst of his appeal for harmony.

"Will you stand by me, friends, in our arrangement for peace?" shouted Pledger. There were cries of "Yes!" "Yes!" "What is the arrangement?" "No!" "No!" "No!" "No "There was a storm of very serious as

'As delegates to this convention we have a right to know what arrangement Colone Pledger has reference to. This is the first time I have heard of it and I don't think we should vote blindly for any motion, no matter how much harmony it may bring about. I insist that this convention be informed as to the arrangement entered into etween Colonel Pledger and Colonel Buck.

There were loud hisses at this mingled with cheers, and pandemonium began to break loose. It was clear that the convenion would in a few moments be out of the control of the leaders. Colonel Buck announced that it had beer agreed upon by both factions that in every case of a contest the conflicting parties should each take half a vote. This seemed to please all parties concerned.

Colonel Buck was very unwell and at this

There were yells, cat-calls and hisses, intermingled with loud and continuous cries for "Wright! Wright!" Wright was not long in seeing how he had been left out in the cold and he mounted the speaker's desk right in front of Chairman Johnson. He was followed by five or six strong-lunged negroes, who didn't propose to be run over, and who said s much in language that was more vehernt than parliamentary.

The sight of one razor would undoubtedly have caused a fatal termination to the exciting proceedings, but the police were crowding around the speak-er's stand and the sight of their uniforms did much to appease the turbulent anger of the delegates. of the delegates.

There were about ten delegates upon the speaker's desk at once and the secretary's table below was likewise turned into a rostrum for shouting, howling madmen.

If there had been room for thirty shouters upon these narrow platforms they would have been there, for every delegate in the convention seemed crazy to be heard and convention seemed crazy to be heard and as fast as one could be pulled off the stand his place was taken by another who was even more determined in his denunciation of the proceedings than his predecessor, if such a thing was possible.

It looked to disinterested observers as though Pledger had not only succeeded in getting his law partner, Johnson, elected but had been able to break the Buck slate into a cocked hat, so that Rucker or Deveaux, or both, might be thrown off.

One of the followers of the Athens leader shouted in glee: "Good Lawd, but old 'Bill' Pledger has got this thing in a swing as sure as you're born."

Neither Pledger, Love, Wright nor any of the other delegates who occupied the speaker's desk was able to get a hearing. Though Colonel Walter Johnson was in the chair, Pledger took matters in his own hands for a while.

There was much confusion in the hall after the election of the delegates to St. Louis. There had been disorder before, much of it, but the complete rout of the Reed and other forces than McKinley's disturbed the peace of the convention and launched the reign of chaos.

The committee on resolutions made its report and upon this there was a terrific, if a somewhat one-sided fight. The men op-posed to McKinley, although clearly in the minority, put up a game fight and created much noise. For a time it even seemed as if they might do something in the convenif they might do something in the conven-tion. The opponents to McKinley struggled hard to prevent the convention from in-drating the Ohio statesman. While the committee on resolutions was out several speeches were made. One speaker was hissed down. He tried to talk Reed to the convention. The big Mc-Kinley men, with noisy lungs, wouldn't have it. They shut him off by producing about twenty times as much noise as he created. The speaker had to quit.

McKinley Finds Opposition. When the report was read there was loud theering by the McKinley men. That paragraph which indorsed Hon. William McKin-ley as the standard bearer of the party was received with loud huzzas. But the "com-bine" was not pleased. A sharp-voice anti-McKinley man arose to oppose the Mc-Kinley part of the resolution. A motion was made that the McKinley paragraph be tricken from the report. This mot received with loud manifestations of disapreceived with fold mannestations of disap-proval from the delegates who wore Mc-Kinley badges. They were howling mad at the very thought of seeing their idol of-fered this indignity, and they did not pro-

Editor Gordon's View of the Fight. A. A. Gordon, editor of The Atlanta Reporter, was very vehement in his remarks about "Bill" Pledger's action. He was the first man to create a panic in the convention by demanding from Pledger and Buck, an explanation of the arrangement by which "harmony" was to be pro-

When seen last night, Gordon said: "We have been making a strong fight in the state for Reed, led by "Bill" Pledger, and up to yesterday morning I felt that everything was all right until W. H. Matthews, of Brunswick, informed me that Pledger had sacrificed us to Colonel Buck and his henchmen in consideration of the election of my bosom friend, H. L. John-

"We had the fight whipped, and it was useless for us to concede anything to Buck when we had the advantage. It was not necessary for Pledger to do as he did though he may have thought he was doing right.

"It was not treating me or any of the rest of his friends fairly who had stood so firmly by him. However, after Buck and Pledger concocted their scheme to throttle the wishes of both sides of their respective constituents by railroading the election of Buck, Johnson, Deveaux and Rucker over the heads of the 500 honest delegates, then I swore by my eternal Maker that I would never submit to it. "This crowd, led by Buck and Pledger, left the hall leaving over 250 McKinley dele gates and only about 150 Reed men. We then proceeded to elect our men, Buck,

Johnson, Wright and Hetherington. "It was my fight to have Buck go up contested, but I failed. I succeeded in getting Johnson on both tickets so that his seat will not be contested, but Rucker and Deveaux's seats will be contested and I'm glad of it. This was my fight-and I think it is quite a victory for the man from Maine after Pledger had left us. "I believe if Colonel Piedger had never entered into a compromise with Buck, he would have won hands down. My friends, A. Graves, B. J. Davis, W. H. Matthews, L. M. They know that a really good complexion is a sign of health, and created by Nature. There are different ways of imitating a fine complexion: cosmetics, which deceive nobody, but ruin the skin and make the user look silly and prematurely old; stimulants which only give a temporary flush; dangerous drugs which drive pimply disorders from the face back into the blood. All these "counterfeit" complexions are unsafe and easily detected. When the convention adjourned yesterday afternoon it was announced that a republican rally would be held at 8 o'clock in the hall of the house of representatives At 8 o'clock, the time agreed upon, only a few republicans of the darker shade found their way into the spacious hall. These dropped into seats near the door and made themselves at home by elevating their shoe tops to a level with their eye-brows. After thirty or forty minutes had elapsed, bringing only a few more stragglers into the hall, it was decided to ad the meeting and have the lights turned off. Accordingly Secretary Graves, of the state executive committee, took the chair and arnounced the meeting adjourned. The cause of the slim attendance was due to a social gathering of the colored contingent who preferred ice cream and music to oratory and applause, This closed the proceedings of the state republican convention for 1896.

Athens, Ga., April 29.—(Special.)—The recent statement made to the effect that the Northeastern railroad had earned in the last ten months enough to pay the interest on the bonds and convert $10,000 in cash into the state treasury turns out to be a mistake.

The figures for 1894 show gross earnings of $61,253.11 and expenses of $43,607.51, leaving net earnings $17,645.60.

The figures for 1895 show gross earnings of $54,653.15, expenses of $41,722.67, and net earnings of $12,303.48.

The fight is of interest all over Georgia, as the bequests of Judge Harris to Emory coilege, to Young Harris institute and to various societies of Georgia Methodism amounted to over $50,600. His estate was about $130,000.

The caveators will try to set up the fact that Judge Harris was unduly influenced by Mrs. Beverly C. Hampton and Miss Annie T. Comer, two nieces of his wife, that he was not of sound minds at the time of making the will; that about that time he told several parties he could see his wife out in the yard and on the porch, when as a matter of fact his wife had been dead since 1888; and finally that he had a mania for giving away his money to educational and religious societies to the exclusion of his own relatives. The evidence to be introduced tomorrow is said to be of a startling nature. The executors say they will be able to disprove all the allegations.

All Three Wives Are Still Living, One of Them in Georgia.

Seima, Ala., April 29.—(Special.)—Charles Nobles, a young man who came to Seima a month ago from Eufaula, Ala., was married Monday to Miss Lillie Hall. Tuesday it developed that he had two living wives, one in Eufaula and another in Macon, Ga. He was arrested and tried before a magistrate last night and found guilty. His bond was fixed at $500.

A moment after the verdict he dashed out of the door and sped away in the darkness. The magistrate, consable, witnesses and about twenty spectators gave chase but he was fleet of foot and made good his escape.

It is learned that he disappeared from Eufaula in a similar manner. The friends of the young lad: will leave nothing undone to catch and punish Nobles. of Them in Georgia.

An essential in every community is the reliable drug store, where nothing is sold that is not vouched for; where no fatal mistakes are made. Such a one is the well known establishment mentioned above—a thoroughly reliable drug store. The best prescription in the world is not of benefit unless properly compounded. Every day we read in the paper warning against buying from those who substitute fakes and inflations for standard preparations because it pays a larger profit.

Accuracy, honesty, wide awake attention being the foundation of the success in Jacobs' Pharmacy Company, junction of Edgewood avenue, Decatur and Peachtree streets, the manager-was asked about the remarkable boom in the sale of No-To-Bac.

success of a preparation lies in what it does, not what it's advertised to do. Merit counts, nothing else. You can advertise from now till doomsday, and if the article does not possess merit it will not achieve success. That is why No-To-Bac with comparatively little advertising has had so remarkable a-sale. It cures the tobacco habit and restores the vital functions. One man tries it and his success causes others to do likewise. Just to show you how much faith can be placed in No-To-Bac's merit I need only mention that the makers, the Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal and New York, authorize us and every other druggist to sell their preparations under absolute guarantee to cure, or refund the purchase money. They know that any honest man-who honestly uses No-To-Bac according to directions will be cured."

"You spoke of preparations," said the reporter. "What else do they make?"

"Cascarets, Candy Cathartic, the ideal laxative, an elegant proparation, pleasant to eat, never fails to act, never grip nor gripe and cure constipation, no matter how often other remedies have failed. # DEATH AND FLAMES AT CRIPPLE CREEK

The Second Fire Within a Week Visits the New Town.

FIRE FOUGHT WITH DYNAMITE

Buildings Are Blown Up To Stop the Progress of the Flames.

THREE MEN ARE KNOWN TO BE DEAD

Thieves Begin To Get in Their Work and Are Shot-Many Families Homeless.

Cripple Creek, Colo., April 29 .- A second conflagration, accompanied by loss of life and injuries to many persons, swept the business part of this city into ashes today. At least three men l'e dead and fifteen or twenty persons were burned and otherwise injured.

Two of the dead were killed in an explosion of the Palace hotel boilers, while the other was a thief who was shot by a policeman under orders.

One thousand persons are without sholter tonight and the business men and property owners who have lost all, with little or no it surance, are almost in despair. They are in a fever of excitement and wrath at the incendiaries who are charged with starting this and Saturday's destruction.

Assistance Asked For.

Mayor Steele has telegraphed for assistance from neighboring towns in the way of tents for the homeless, but the police department feels able to cope with the situa-

All that is left of the camp is "Old Town," ever to the east; Capitol hill, the residence section northward, and scattering places about the Florence and Cripple Creek yards.

The loss will not fall short of $2,000,000, which is more heavily insured that the property burned Saturday.

All the substantial business houses of brick and wood, the leading hotels, office buildings and the better class of retail shops went up in smoke or lie in ruins as the result of the dynamite exploded to stay the flames.

The conflagration ended only when the residence portion was reached and open spaces encountered, across which the flames could not reach. A Good Place To Start a Fire.

The fire, which was of undoubted incendiary origin, started in the Portland hotel, on Second street, shortly after noon. A brisk breeze was blowing and the fire rapidly gained such headway that the fire department was unable to check its progress. The Portland was a rattle-trap and offered the best of kindling for the beginning of the

The entire town was quickly set into a pastic as the residents had not recovered from their terrific experience of Saturday. Everybody began to pack up and get away, but so rapidly did the flames spread that the people soon became panic stricken and a wild scene ensued.

Teams were lashed up and down the streets by excited men having property, while people with bundles were running pellmell to the northward. The roaring of the flames, the crash of the falling timbers. following the explosions of dynamite and the shouts of frenzied men and women, made an awful spectacle.

Thieves Begin To Work.

Everybody on the hills hastened to lend their assistance by rushing into town to carry away valuables, most of which remain unidentified. At the first hint of looting property, the police aided by the citizens gave prompt notice that death would be the fate of all thieves, and the story was affoat early that several thieves had already been shot and their bodies cremated.

Rumors of many lives lost added to the general consternation, and when the boilof the Palace hotel exploded, killing and injuring several people, the panic-stricken, crazed and excited citizens rush-made to prevent it burning. By this time everybody on Meyers and Bennett avenues and on six adjacent blocks began to move out. East of Third street, embers ignited the temporary buildings setup on the first burned district.

By 4 o'clock the whole town was ablaze and above Carr avenue people were moving their household goods. At Second and Bennett streets stood the Bimetallic National bank, and next to it, in the Cripple Creek mining exchange, was the temporary home of the First National bank.

Money Locked in the Vaults.

Money Locked in the Vaults.

All the money was locked up in the vaults and the place was abandoned, when the flames crowded the clerks out. North of the banks were the telegraph and tele phone offices, which had to be abandoned. Late in the afternoon the wind veered around to the east, driving the course of around to the east, driving the course of the conflagration to the more sparsely built-up residence district, and the fire died out, leaving the high school build-ing, the only one of any size remaining in the camp. The list of business houses destroyed includes every firm of any size in the city. Many residences were also swept away.

The Homeless Hunt Shelter. When it was realized the the fire w out, the people who had raced to now die out, the people who had raced to the hills began a wild scramble to find quarters for the night. Special trains bore hundreds to Victor, Florence and Colorado Springs by the Midland Terminal route. Others went later tonight.

There are two dead and several injured as a result of the Palace hotel explosion. An unknown man was shot by a policeman while looting a burning building. One of the dead men has been identified as a man named Griffith, who worked at Gold King, and another as J. W. Crigger. George Layden was so badly injured that he will die.

During the time these efforts were being made, Mr. Frank Moragne, of Etowah, one of the chief lieutenants in the ranks of the Moseley republicans, appeared in the lobby and was invited to give the convention his views on the subject of the proposed fusion. Moragne shot another thunderbolt into the convention. He said he was a member of the Moseley faction of the republican party of Alabama and that this convention had on yesterday, without invitation from the Moseley faction, sent a committee of conference to the convention of that faction asking for terms of co-operation. The Moseley committee had conferred with the committee from this convention and had agreed upon co-operation, and to prevent embarrassment in the proposed action had put to the rear in its platform all questions except that one of paramount importance—honest elections. Men had been agreed on by the two committees, he said, to fill he places on the state ticket accorded to the republicans and he was here today to find that this convention had made a trade with the Hill-Stevens wing of the democratic party (meaning the McKinleyites) and that he for one would not be bound by the agreement reached yesterday afternoon. views on the subject of the proposed fu-

Mr. Oliver, of Tallapoosa, interrupted Mr. Morague at this juncture with the statement that Chairman Moseley, Mr. Walker and other leaders on his side had last night agreed with the populist leaders that in case of a conference with the Mc-Kinley convention it would be satisfactory to them if the convention would nominate for the vacant places on the ticket any republican suggested by the McKinley faction.

Meragne replied that he respected Dr. Moseley, but that vesterday's arrangement was not with Dr. Moseley and Mr. Walker, but with the sovereign republicans assem-bled in convention. Injunction from Perry.

Today Attorney Lewis Brown, of Fort alley, and Messrs. W. H. Norwood and eorge B. Wells, of Perry, were in the city to see Judge Felton for the purpose of obtaining an injunction from him to restrain the town of Perry from issuing $10,000 of bonds recently voted on favorably for the purpose of constructing water works. Judge Felton is not in the city, and it is supposed that Mr. Brown, who is the attorney for Messrs. Norwood and Wells, will seek some other superfor court judge. It is understood that the petitioners allege that the election for bonds was illegal on account of persons voting who had not paid their taxes. One hundred votes were cast in the election, of which eleven were against the bonds, the other eighty-seven being for bonds. Mrs. Nobles's Case. The decision of the supreme court on last Monday, in which it refused to compel Ordinary Wiley to issue a writ of lunacy for the trial of Mrs. Nobles, seems to place Mrs. Nobles much nearer the gallows than she has ever been before. It has knocked one strong prop from under her. It is not known of course, what will be the result one strong prop from under her. It is not known, of course, what will be the result of the hearing before the supreme court of the United States on the appeal of her attorneys from the recent decision of Judge Speer, of the United States court of the southern district of Georga. If the United States supreme court sustains Judge Speer, then the last and only resort of Mrs. Nobles's attorneys will be to appeal to Governor Atkinson for executive elemency, unless they can also appeal to President Cleveland, which they may do as the case is now in the United States court. When Mr. Marion Harris, one of Mrs. Nobles's attorneys, was asked today regarding the case, he said: "Well, they have not hanged her yet."

A Gala Occasion. A Gala Occasion.

The management of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad proposes to celebrate the opening and completion of the railroad from Tifton to the new colony, Fltzgerald, in a grand manner on May 19th. A big excursion will be run from Macon and other points on that day. An interesting programme of exercises at Fltzgerald has been arranged. It is expected that Governor Atkinson, ex-Senator Walsh and other distinguished gentlemen will be present and make addresses. Passenger Agent MacDonald, of the Georgia Southern, has the affair in charge, and, as usual, he proposes to make a success of it.

Mrs. Sarah Seither, who lived on the Licking pike, was called to the witness stand and said she met Jackson and Walling on her way to Newport and that they nsulted her. Mrs. Alice Heifel testified that some tim after midnight on the morning of February 1st she heard a vehicle pass her house on the road leading to the Alexandria Dr. Edward Freeman, professor of sur gery in the Eclectic Medical college, was placed on the stand. Attorney Hayes put a hypothetical question in which the condition of the body was described. The doctor answered positively and without hesita-tion that decapitation must have taken "Could the condition of the blood on the leaves have been produced by moving the body if the head was severed after death?" "It could not, except by some person sprinkling blood on the leaves." At the afternoon session Dr. Freema said if chloroform or cocaine had been administered the victim would have roused when decapitation was attempted.

The counsel for the prisoner contender that the Maupin law was repugnant to the constitution of Virginia, which requires the title of an act to embrace only one object; that it was repealed, by implication, by another and somewhat similar act approved about the same time; that it was repugnant to the commerce clause of the constitution of the United States; that the warrant was vague and indefinite, and failed to state precisely what the prisoner was charged with, and that the justice should have fixed the punishment instead of committing the man for trial by the county court. The decision of the court is adverse to all of these contentions

ATLANTA, GA., April 30, 1896.

Populism Petering Out. The good results that have been accomplished in Alabama by the declaration of the democratic party in favor of genuine democratic principles are already to be seen in the dilemma in which the leaders of the populist party in that state find themselves. The convention that met in Montgomery Tuesday was in striking contrast to the tremendous gathering that assembled in Birmingham two years ago.

The Birmingham convention was made up of 7,000 delegates and attendants from all parts of the state, representing demoeratic constituencies who were eager to protest against the surrender of democratic principles that at that time seemed to be inevitable. Tuesday's convention was composed of barely 250 deleand those were lacking in enthusiasm to such a degree as to attract the | leading democratic paper in Tennessee. attention of those who were able to and in the face of the fact that Pattercompare the two conventions. Four counties had no representation at all. In short, it was plainly to be seen that the populist leaders themselves felt that the democratic party, by reasserting its the paper as editor has ceased. Rather anew and unequivocally to true democratic principles has left discontented ty and to the readers of his paper, Mr. and disapopinted democratic voters no se whatever for uniting with other organizations or for failing to support men who represent democratic principles. The democratic party of Alabama will sweep the state this year by one of its old-time rousing majorities, all because the party has planted itself unmistakably and unequivocally on sound ocratic doctrine, and because its deliverance on the money question-the paramount issue of the hour-will admit of but one interpretation or construction. The populist leaders in Alabama, as well as in some other southern states we could mention, are making the mistake of supposing that the democratic voters who have given some show of importance to the populist party, are tired of democracy and disgusted with democratic principles. It is a very easy mistake for an ambitious leader to make. and it is a fatal one. The populist ranks have been filled with democratic voters because they are disgusted with the ease and certainty with which a few republican states in the east have been able to manipulate and control national democratic conventions, dictating platforms and naming candidates, and yet never giving the democratic party so much as one electoral vote. Instead of fighting against this species of injustice and corruption in the party ranks, a great many democratic voters have aligned themselves under populist leaders. But, as soon as they perceive that the day of such control of national conventions is over-and a blind man can see this now-they will return to the democratic party and resume their contest in behalf of true democratic prin-

· Already the democrats in the democratic states are placing themselves on platforms from which they cannot retreat, and announcing principles which they cannot surrender. It is already certain that the true democrats of the country will control the national convention, make the platform and name the candidates. It has already become apparent that the democrats, by making declaration for the free coinage of silver and nominating a candidate whose eord is beyond reproach, can sweep country without the aid of an elec-

1 vote from New York, Connecticut New Jersey. pocratic victory is in the air. The mind is beginning to realize it. cratic groundswell, irresistible is sweeping over the country be tring in strength as it rolls m have taken the place of the gloom and despondency the only one in which the democrats of three months ago. The change in the situation is so great that it can be seen and felt by every democratic voter, and those who are in favor of true democratic principles are beginning to realize now, as they never realized before, that the people are with them.

Realizing this, and realizing also that he democratic party has been misrepresented, the democrats who have been acting under the guidance of the populist leaders are returning to their party allegiance, prepared to fight, as of old, for true democratic principles.

As a last resort, the populist leaders, in Alabama and other southern states, of their party with the republicans. As the declared principles of the populists will not mix with those of the republicans any more than oil will mix with water, the fusionists can only have one idea in view, and that is to secure the offices. Such an advertisement, plain on the face of it, and entirely selfish in its nature, can but disgust those who stand on principle and this is one of the years when all voters who have the courage of their convictions and who are not timeservers, are standing on principie.

The attempted fusion in Alabama of the populists with the republicans can only have one result, and a very desirable one, too. It will send back into the democratic party every white voter in the state who believes in democratic principles, but who has been acting with the populists in the vain hope that the new organization would prove to be available in putting these principles into operation.

The fusion in Alabama and the strong talk of it in Georgia shows beyond all question that the populist leaders are thinking more of personal success than they are of the success of democratic principles, and this knowledge will prove fatal to it so far as the white voters of the two states are concerned.

This is a democratic year and the honest voters of the whole country are beginning to realize the fact.

An Editor Retires. Under the editorship of Mr. E. W. Carmack, who is not only an accomplished writer and journalist, but a true demoerat as well, The Memphis Commercial-Appeal has been one of the most influential of southern newspapers. Recently, however, those who control the stock of the paper have insisted that the editor. Mr. Carmack, should place no obstacle in the way of the candidacy of Josiah Patterson, a gold worshiper who has been going about the country roaring as loudly as the bull of Bashan against the democratic principle of free coinage. In other words, the owners of The Commercial-Appeal insisted that Mr. Carmack should allow Josish Patterson to make his canvass unopposed by the son's district has repudiated his republican financial views. The result is that Mr. Carmack prints a card in the last issue of The Commercial announcing that his connection with articles of faith and pledging itself | than forego what seemed to be his plain duty to his own conscience, to his par-Carmack has retired from the position of editor. The sacrifice that he has made is one that every honest and conscientious democratic editor is prepared to make; and if those who favor the gold standard imagine that his retire ment is a victory for them, they little understand the temper of the democratic voters of the district. It is not only not a victory for them, but it will add to the certainy of their defeat in Tennessee, and will be another evidence of the futility of their efforts to deceive the

For the retirement of so hold a dem ocrat from the editorial chair of The Commercial-Appeal is simply another advertisement to the people that the money power is gradually purchasing and getting control of the organs of public opinion to the end that the voters may be deluded and deceived by the very newspapers which they have learn ed to trust and respect. With so vigilant and conscientious a man as Editor Carmack out of the way, will be an easy matter for those who control The Commercial-Appeal to insidiously use its influence against the democratic party and at the same time pretend to be in favor of democratic principles. Mr. Carmack did not surrender his place in pursuit of a whim. He was driven from it by the gold element that controls the paper. Men who are anxious to see Josiah Patterson re-elected are not democrats at all. They are in favor of republican financial doc-

Meanwhile, let the people stand together in behalf of democratic principles.

The Kind of "Field Day" It Was. "This was a field day for sound demoeracy," is the way the "official organ" of the secretary of the interior presented the report of an indiscriminate jumble of state conventions in its issue of yesterday afternoon. It made no distinction between democratic, republican, fusion or populist conventions, but side by side, under the same head, appears the action of the democratic state conventions of Pennsylvania and Michigan, with the report of the Illinois and Vermont republican conventions, and the action of the populists and republicans of Alabama in fusing against the democrats; and in the midst of this wierd conglomeration, set like an ill-fitted jewel, is the report of the convention of the gold standard bolters of Nebraska. And all this-"was a field day for sound democracy." Pennsylvania has not cast a demoeratic electoral vote since the war and its republican majority last year was in yet his views must be respectfully conthe neighborhood of 200,000. Michigan sidered by all readers of history. Men is likewise republican, and in neither of these states have the democrats the re-

have a ghost of a show is Mississippi, which elected a solid free coinage delegation to Chicago, and adopted a platform in keeping with the pledge and policy of the party. As to the Nebraska flasco, everybody understands that the regular state dem ocratic convention acted last week, and t elected a full free coinage delegation, under instructions, to the national convention. The aggregation which assembled yesterday at Lincoln and declared for the gold standard, represented the pyrotechnic element of the party which, under the leadership of the secretary of agriculture, J. Sterling Morton, has had control of the federal offices and pursued the consistent and persistent are trying hard to bring about a fusion policy of antagonizing the regular organization at every possible opportunity. Two years ago when the state convention declared in favor of the free coinage of silver and indorsed Bryan for the senate, about thirty-five of the 800 delegates withdrew and established a new organization, appointing an executive committee, under whose call yesterday's convention was held Under the election laws of that state hese bolters claimed the right to have their ticket, nominated at that time in pposition to the regular nominees, annced on the tickets as democratic candidates. The question was carried to the courts, and the supreme court of the state declared that they had no right to the use of the democratic name and t accordingly refused to permit the canlidates of the bolters to be recorded as emocratic nominees. Yet this is the element whose representatives met yesterday at Lincoln and whose doings are recorded as a part of "sound democracy's field day." The democratic states are lining up one after the other for the free coinage of silver, and there will be enough of party without surrendering to the demands of states which never have and never will cast a democratic vote.

Colored Pelegates at St. Louis. When they attempt to forecast the result at St. Louis the republican leaders admit that the uncerainty in regard to the colored delegates makes it impossible to figure out a reliable estimate.

The Chicago Record claims that the St. Louis convention will be attended by more young colored men than ever sat in a national convention before. The Record says: The veteran colored politicians who have been chosen thus far as delegates to ublican convention are few. Wright ney from Texas and Perry Carson from the District of Columbia are about all that left of the old guard. It is asserted t Cuney was saved in Texas by his lingness to be a party to the bursting of e Mckinley boom in his state, other wise he would have been left at home to rood over the part he had played in ear lier conventions. As it is, he is content t play second fiddle to a young Galveston lawyer named Fergus the Reed canvass in Texas and who is the father of the compromise which stopped growth of the McKinley wave in that state. Next to Frederick Douglass, the colorded men most familiar to republican conventions have been ex-Senator Bruce and John R. Lynch, of Mississippi. The ndications are that neither of these men will have seats in the St. Louis convention national delegates they were signally defeated by the young men, led by James J. Hill, of Vicksburg, who will be remembered as the young colored man whose appointment as postmaster of Vicksburg by Presfrom the white Mississippians. The Bruce-Lynch people will contest the right of the apposition to seats in the convention, but the Hillites say their victory was so decisive that they cannot be unseated. In South Carolina it looks as though General Robert Smalls had gone the way of he has-beens. For years he lived and thrived on the recollection held of the Pilot rescue story. But as time got farther away from that stirring incident the general's star began to wane and he has been de feated in turn for the nomination for congressman and as a delegate to the national and he and his followers will have seats n the convention. It is very likely that ex-congressman Cheatham and John C. Dany will lead the colored delegates from North Carolina. Both are young men and are regarded as good representatives of the new type of colored men. Young men have come to the front in Louisiana and the colored delegates from that state will be new men and practically unknown outide of their native district. James Madison Vance, a young lawyer of New Orleans, is he chief spirit of the element which has let aside the old-timers who were wont to follow the lead of ex-Governor Pinchback and Colonel James Lewis. Our contemporary does not express any opinion about the colored leaders in Georgia, possibly because it considers them too uncertain to be intelligently discussed this far in advance. It is under the impression, however, the moral caliber of the colored delegates to St. Louis will be higher than in previous conventions. The younger men seen to be striving for a higher standard of political morality, but in many localities in the south the color line has been drawn in republican politics, and this complicates the situation. If in a certain district the whites are for Reed, I their presidential aspirations. When hat is enough to rally the blacks to Mc Kinley, and if the whites are for Mc Kinley the blacks are for Reed. Some of the colored leaders are trying to prevent the selection of purchasable delegates, but the northern republican politicians shake their heads over this phase of the situation. The convention itself will be the only test.

International Arbitration.

In this country many intelligent peo ole believes that international arbitraion will soon be a fixed fact and that it will give the world permanent and universal peace. Lord Wolseley, the commander in chief of the British army, takes very little stock in the arbitration idea. He | Hammond pleaded guilty to the charge does not believe that war can be avoided in the future, and he says that the to make him suffer the death penalty advocate of universal peace would be a dangerous man if he held a leading place in public life.

The British general is a man of large experience, and it is to be presumed that test. Hammond was on the same foothe is a student of human nature. It is to be regretted that he has given such a blow to international arbitration, and are very much the same in all ages. Whether savage or civilized they resent chance of obtaining an electoral insult, seek revenge for injuries and fight when the greed of gain tempts states which acted yesterday them. It is not reasonable to expect enforce it when our citizens are opa radical change. Arbitration may be resorted to in many cases, but while the world stands it is not likely that there will ever be a century of unbroken peace. A quarter of a century ago it was thought that the horrors of the French evolution would never be repeated, but directly after the Franco-Prussian war the rabble of Paris plunged into one of the worst carnivals of murder and detombing the silver question is getting struction ever recorded in history. What o be very rare now. the future has in store no man can foretell, but it requires no prophet to pre ous business of nations. International arbitration should be adrocated and tried, but a permanently peaceful world is merely a dream.

Cuban Bonds.

The report that J. Pierpont Morgan. or some other New York financier, has offered 621/2 cents on the dollar for Cuban bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 is vouched for by leading Cubans at Washington. The only thing that stands in the way of the sale of Cuban bonds is the failare of our government to recognize the belligerent rights of the insurgents. When we do this the Cubans will have a recognized status and they will be able to go into the money markets of the world and negotiate a loan. If the southern confederacy had not been recognized as a belligerent power it would never have been able to borrow money in France. As it was, however, the confederates secured a loan of $15,000,000, and when the bids were opened it was ound that the European financiers, at that time, were willing to take $500,000,-000 worth of bonds.

Belligerent rights for Cuba will supply he insurgents with the sinews of war. In New York, London and Paris there them to take care of the interests of the are numerous capitalists who will promptly purchase their bonds as soon as they are recognized by our government as something more substantial than a mere mob engaged in a temporary uprising.

Michigan's New Woman.

Mayor Stern, of St. Joseph, Mich., will not think lightly of the new woman after his experience last Monday night. The mayor was walking quietly down one of the back streets when forty women who were leading members of local clubs and church societies captured him and dragged him into a private house, where they demanded that he should co-operate with them in a re form movement.

The women claimed that the laws were not enforced; that cigarettes were sold with impunity; that young girls were enticed by bad men, and that the saloons sold liquor to minors. Mayor Stern was kept a prisoner for two hours and was not released until he gave his promise to submit the reforms demanded to the city council. Among other things, the women demanded the adoption of a curfew bell, upon the ringing of which all children of certain ages must retire from the streets and go to their homes.

If this is a sample of the methods of the new woman it goes without saying that they will revolutionize our politics, No man in public life is willing to run the risk of being kidnaped by a band of women and held a prisoner until he yields to their demands. In the majority of cases the victim would probably be treated gently, but in some instances the zeal of the female reformers might lead them to resort to devices which would make their prisoner very uncomfortable. The mayor of St. Joseph should be thankful that he got off so easily.

The Gift of Gab.

General Draper in a recent speech expressed the opinion that the rewards of political life are not sufficient for a plain business man who is not an orator The general believes that a congressman's success is largely dependent upon his oratorical gifts. The member who cannot make a good speech may after a long term of service come to the front in the house, but he runs the risk at any time of being overthrown on some great question by a man of less ability who is able by his eloquence to sway the house. This is only a half truth. The men who have the gift of gab naturally have a great advantage over those who are not able to speak or talk entertainingly, but in every circle of society and in every deliberative body there are men of commanding influence who are noted for their silence. They are men of experience and information. They are workers and thinkers, and the talkers around them are to a great extent guided and controlled by them.

If General Draper had glanced backward through our history he would have seen that no brilliant orator ever reached the highest place in our republic. Webster. Clay and Blaine captured the masses when they spoke, but when the test came they were all disappointed in people reach that mental period which is called their second sober thought they distrust the leaders whose eloquence tickles their ears and they turn to the grave and silent men whose deeds speak ouder than their words.

The Hammond Case.

John Hays Hammond, the American civil engineer, who co-operated with Jameson in his raid against the Boers, was in a bad fix until Kruger pardoned him, and congress would not have been able to help him.

I fully indorse it on the money question as do the greater number of the voters in the democratic party of this state. #### EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Thomas B. Reed is not an excitable man, and can be, when he so wishes, very cool in the presence of a persistent interviewer. A Washington correspondent recently at-tempted to obtain Speaker Reed's views regarding several important national issues 'Young man," said Reed solemnly, "this promises to be a very lively baseball season." That was all that he would say for ends a journey of 7,000,000 miles, begun centuries before the Christian era. This is on the basis that it came from a star, for it would, according to astronomical cal-culation, require the full time given to make the trip from star to earth. Just what these meteorites are and from whence they come are things that even those who have spent their lives in studying the stars can yet do barely more than conjecture. An article on this subject from the pen of Camille Flammarion, the great French astronomer, has just appeared in Paris, and is of especial interest, as it gives hitherto unpublished details regardng the great aerolite that burst over Spain the month before last. It says:

When a meteorite strikes the earth it

"The sun was shining brightly in the blue sky, when, at 9:29:30 o'clock in the forenoon of Monday, February 10th, the people of Madrid suddenly saw a flash of blindingly brilliant light in the sky above them, which seemed to set the whole heavens aflame. It appeared to emanate from a white cloud, which hung like a ouff of smoke high up toward the zenith, having the form of a semi-circle with its convex side toward the east, and tipped a crimson hue at its outer edge. M. Flammarion says that a projectile sent from the earth with a speed of 11,000 meters (nearly 37,000 feet) per second—al-lowance being made for the resistence of he air-would never fall back to the earth A projectile sent with a speed of 10,000 to 11,000 meters (a meter is about 3.28 feet) would fall only after hundreds of thousands of years. A projectile launched with an initial velocity of from 9,000 to 10,000 meters per second would fall after thousands of years. "Therefore, it seems," sazs M. Flammarion, "that a certain number of meteories must have rom these different sources. W Without loubt some of them may be the dust of defunct worlds wandering in space. But their analogy with the interior rocks of the terrestrial globe would seem to indicate that many of them come from our own planet. Those which arrive with a small velocity may have the moon for their origin, but the great speed with which some of them strike the earth indicates that they come from some star. From the nearest star to the earth is a journey which it would take a meteorite no les than 7,000,600 of years to make."

The Ten Per Cent Bank Tax.

From The Augusta Chronicle. The trouble with the effort to repeal the 10 per cent tax is that it was not sincere The same forces that are blocking the way to the coinage of silver are unalterably on rosed to the issue of currency by barks. If it came squarely to a choice etween the one or the other, some of the goldbug papers and bankers who are working only in the interest of a currency that can be controlled, cornered, appreciated in value and contracted at will, would declare in favor of silver coinage rather than the epeal of the prohibitive tax on state banks. The people of the south are so easily humbugged by the money power of the north and east that to avoid a direct issue at the polls on silver coinage they have had only to advance one makeshift after another. The repeal of the tax on state banks is one of the promises that is occasionally held out when the people get too much in earnest about demanding the coinage of silver. But the money power which manages to control legislation has no more idea of permitting the repeal of this tax than of allowing the resumption of silver coinage.

Mr. Calvin well says that the deman made by the national democracy at Chicago-in itself a pledge to the country-could have been, and should have been enacted into law immediately after the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. The people remember well how an overwhelming democratic majority in congress killed this measure, though it was only a sop thrown out to catch votes in the south and west, and the money power as represented in eastern democrats never had ar idea of allowing it to become a law. The we hope they will stand squarely up to the great issue that has been made in this campaign, and not allow themselves to be sidetracked by any other. The fight this

We are told that there was no interference by federal authorities with the ship ment of this precious cargo, and that there was, indeed, no federal officer there who was competent to interfere. We should think not. If the collector and surveyor and naval officer of the port and the president and his cabinet and all the justices of the supreme court, and even Thurber, the Faithful, and Bowler, the Great, had all been starding on the dock there would still have been no one there competent to in-terfere. The manufacture, sale and shipnent of arms and ammunition is just as awful an American industry as the manupet tacks, and is no more to be interfered with. The Spanish consul, we are told, was very angry because nothing was done to stop the shipment, or because his agents were not allowed to get aboard the ship. Why? #### GENERAL LEE ON AMERICANISM.

The New Consul General Addresses the Students at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., April 29.—(Special.)—General Fitzhugh Lee, the new consul general to Cuba, tonight addressed the graduating class of the University College of Medicine Much of this able address was de-to showing the immense strides the voted to showing the immense strides the world had made in warfare as well as in almost every other field of science.

Touching the effects of recent wars in this country, General Lee said: "Our eyes have seen enough of its horrors and our ears been filled too much with its lamentation; and yet there is an Americanism about the southern soldier which causes the heart to throb with patriotic emotions when America's interests are at stake or America's honor assailed. The policies and purposes of a united country would be defended by him with the courage for which he was greatly distinguished in the past, and should a hostile bayonet, by land or by sea, be pointed at the country's breast, three million men, if necessary, would spring to arms and to onet, by land or by sea, be pointed at the country's breast, three million men, if necessary, would spring to arms and to victory. The southern, or rebel contingent, if you please, for I rather like the term—the sons and grandsons of the veterans of today, would be found battling in the foremost ranks, pouring out their blood for the republic as freely and as courageously as their fathers fought to make two republics grow on this continent where one grew before."

Speaking of the unrest in this country, Consul General Lee said: "Every thoughtful observer of the public events must see the national disquiet which has assumed more imposing proportions than ever before in the country's history. The United States should not march around with a chip on the shoulder challenging all comers to knock it off. The struggle that sounds the trumpet note of war will be welcomed by thousands of the unemployed, by those who expect to make money out of war by thousands of the unemployed, by those who expect to make money out of war and by many who hope that amid the fire and smoke of the carnage of bloody hattlefields in some way not clearly comprehended, some relief or some change will be made in their future conditions. The public men who make war of words loudest and fiercest are not the real heroestand statesmen who should be wrouned.

It has been felt for several days that further efforts to keep Dr. Hawthorne in Atlanta would be useless. The committee appointed by the church to confer with the Nashville church met with but little en couragement from Nashville, A meeting of the congregation was called last night to receive the report of this committee which stated with great sorrow that further efforts to retain their believed paster would be useless, and recommended that Dr. Hawthorne's resignation be ac-

The meeting of the congregation last night was large and representative, and the proceedings were characterized by a solemnity which bespoke the deep feeling of regret that hung over the whole church at the loss of Dr. Hawthorne. The doctor was not present himself, having gone out to his Manchester home early in the after noon, and in his absence Governor Northe occupied the chair. The motion to accepthe report of the board of deacons having been unanimously adopted, a motion wa made to appoint a committee to prepare suitable resolutions expressing the feelings of the church at losing their pastor. A committee, consisting of Mr. H. H. Cabaniss, Dr. J. R. Hopkins, Dr. G. G. Roy, Colonel B. F. Abbott and Mr. Henderso Hallman, was appointed for this purpose They will meet in a few days and draft resolutions on Dr. Hawthorne's departure The same committee was also commission ed to notify him officially of the acceptance of his resignation. To Choose a Pastor.

The board of deacons of the church was instructed to add a sufficient number of lay members to make fifty in all to act as a committee on the pastoral succession and report to the church. They were instructed to be deliberate in their action, and take all the time required to act on the important and difficult task of selecting a man to suc ceed Dr. Hawthorne, The committee will act accordingly, and it may be several months before the question of the pastoral succession is settled.

In the meantime a committee on pulpit supply has been appointed, whose duty it will be to see that the pulpit is filled regularly until a pastor is chosen.

The Succession Committee. The board of deacons of the First Baptist church is made up of the following gentlemen: John M. Green, chairman; J. H. Goldsmith, secretary: Messrs, D. O. Dougherty, J. E. Carlton, H. H. Cabaniss, W. A. Callaway, G. S. Prior, B. F. Abbott. B. L. Willingham, J. J. Maddox, W. A. Martin, R. A. Montieth, A. P. Stewart, William Crenshaw, W. W. Draper, B. M. Yetler, W. J. Northen, C. C. Cox, J. W. Wills, making nineteen in all. According to the congregational resolution adopted, these gentlemen will select thirty-one more names from the laity of the church, making fifty in all, to act with them in selecting a man to present to the congregation for approval, as pastor of the church.

Dr. Hawthorne's Farewell Sermon. As Dr. Hawthorne's service with the Nashville church begins on the 1st of May, next Sunday will be his last Sunday i Atlanta, and though he has made no formal announcement of it, he will doubtless take that occasion to make his farewell address to the congregation which he has served so long and faithfully, and with such signal ability. Mr. Orme was a member of the Gate City Guard when it was organized, and went to war with them. That company will escort his remains to their last resting place. For several years Mr. Orme was quite prominent in Atlanta business life. He was first prominent in the service of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, holding for quite a long while a highly important place with that line. His brother, Mr. W.

P Orme, was connected with the road in an official capacity.
He was president of the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association until about eight months ago, when ill-health forced him to give up the place. For some time previous to this he was unable to attend actively to the duties of the place because of ill-health. He visited several places in search of health, but grew no better. He went to Cincinnati few weeks ago and was thought to be loing well until Sunday afternoon, when a telegram was received announcing his Mr. Orme was a native of Pennsylvania. He was fifty-eight years old and had lived in Atlanta since 1850, consequently he saw the city grow from a small village to a city of immense proportions. He lived in Milledgeville three or four years just previous to coming to this city. He married Miss Kate Harman, of Forsyth, a sister of Mr. Charles E. Harman, and leaves a wife and two children. WILL GATHER TUESDAY.

An Immense Crowd of Medical Men

Preparations for the meeting of the American Medical Association, which assembles in Atlanta on next Tuesday, are being actively pushed by the local mem-bers of the profession. On account of a previous engagement Governor Atkinso will be absent from the city on that day, and will therefore be unable to make the ddress of welcome on behalf of the state. Judge Howard Van Epps will act in his stead, and welcome the distinguished visitors to Atlanta and to Georgia. The opening prayer will be made by Rev. Henry Mc-

As the date for the convening of the asso ciation draws near, it become apparent that an immense crowd will attend. The total number will probably be between eleven and twelve hundred, from every state in the union and from foreign countries, including some of the most distinguished members of the medical profession n the world. The local committee on ar rangements, of which Dr. Willis F. Westrangements, or which Dr. Willis F. West-moreland is chairman, is rapidly concluding all preparations for the entertainment of the vis.ting doctors, and a series of most delightful receptions and banquets will be tendered them during their stay in the city.

RUSSIAN JEWS ARE FLEECED

Their Weekly Savings Gone from Their Grasp.

BANKER MARKS SKIPPED OUT

Was Arrested Yesterday and Will Be Brought to Atlanta.

THEY HAD DEPOSITED FUNDS WITH HIM Gravatte Wanted To Bring His Family Across the Water, but Now

His Money Is Gone.

Jake Marks, the banker of the colony of Russian Jews on Decatur street, has been arrested in Bessemer, Ala., and will be brought back to Atlanta today, where he will be given trial for larceny after trust. Marks was formerly a merchant of Decatur street. After his failure several weeks ago he left this city and has been at large, although an indictment has been resting against him for some time. In this indictment H. Gravatte appears as the prosecutor, but he represents a number of Russian Jews whose experience with the wily merchant has cost them dear.

In spite of the impoverished appearance of their surroundings, the Russian Jews in Atlanta are a thrifty set compared with their condition in other cities. Upon the lower quarter of Decatur street most of them keep stores with a miscellaneous assortment of wares, upon the sale of which they subsist. It is their custom to lay by a certain amount each week and in this way some of them have accumulated a good sum.

Gravatte was one of these. He has been in America only a short time and his dialect is of the most peculiar style. He came to America without his family and his savings were stored up for the purpose of bringing his wife and children across For many months he kept his funds in a savings bank, as he was told that this was the best way to accumulate. Marks, he says, came into his life when he had saved about $300, which was almost enough to bring his family to him. The merchant heard that this amount was de-posited in bank and advised the Russian that it was unsafe there, telling him that the banks frequently failed, and that it was not a good investment to keep his money there. The Jew wanted to know what he must do with his money if he did not keep it in bank. Marks advised him that he could keep the money just as good as a bank; that he was safe and would not fail like a bank. He would have the cash always on hand, ready to be called for Gravatte yielded to this request and decided that it was the best investment. He was followed by a number of his countrymen, who took their savings from the banks and deposited them with Marks. Several weeks ago the merchant failed. There was terror on Decatur street. The Jews rushed into the store. Marks assured them that their money was secure and as a proof opened his safe and showed that it was here to the last penny.

Next day he disappeared. Gravatte saw his hopes to get his family to this country shattered in an instant. He made complaint to the officers with a number of other Russians and an indictment was secured against Marks for larceny after trust scout, and by his untiring vigilance located him yesterday in Bessemer, Ala. He wired to the chief of police to arrest him at once. The following reply was received: Have Jake Marks arrested. Won't com

"N. H. WOOD,

"N. H. WOOD." Sheriff Barnes went immediately to work The requisition was secured. Yesterday af-ternoon Deputy Donehoo left for Mont-gomery, from which place he will go to Bessemer. Marks will be brought back to

SALVINI AS "OTHELLO."

The Boy in the Role His Father Played. April 29.-(Special.)-For the first time on any stage Alexander Salvini played Othello last night. The performance was given at the Schiller theater here. Little has been seen of the noble Moor on the American stage since the elder Salvini last play-ed it in this country, during the season of 1889-90, when the lamented Edwin Booth played Iago to Salvini's Othello. There was much curiosity in the minds of the majority of the audience to see what the younger Salvini would do with the role which his illustrious father made so famous and interpreted so ideally that i came to be a standard Othello, by which all other attempts should stand or fall. It is not putting it too strongly to say that Alex Salvini won a veritable triumph By the right of heredity the ability to look and act to nearly perfection the Moo seems to have been handed down from father to son.

As the younger Salvini stepped forth in the first act tonight the applause broke forth instantly, so perfect was the picture and such a living prototype in the role was he of the father whose Othello mantle, at least, has surely fallen on the shoulders of the son. The production was a magnifi-cent one, the scenery and costume equipment having been specially prepared wit great care and expenditure. Mr. Salvin plays a Boston engagement at the museum following his stay here, after which, ac companied by his manager, W. M. Wilkin son, he will visit his father in Italy.

INTEREST IS KEEN.

INVESTORS ARE TURNING THEIR ATTENTION TO GEORGIA.

Several Counties Have Enormous Deposits of It-English Capital Is Watching Developments.

The rapid growth of interest in the Georgia gold field is wonderful. For several months The Constitution has been publishing occasional news items about levelopments in different parts of the gold belt and within the past month is has paid especial attention to this sub-At first nearly all readers doubted the extent of the veins and their richness, but now the truth is beginning to dawn on thousands who have hitherto been very credulous. Inquiries are multiplying and the prospectors are dropping in all the time. To-day there are in Georgia men who have had long experience all through the west and some from Africa.

"I know of dozens of properties in Georgia which, if they were at Cripple Creek, would sell for a million dollars," said an old Colorado miner yesterday. "There is pay ore in a dozen counties in this state," said Mr. G. W. Thompson, of Gwinnett. "We have plenty of it in our county and it is in other counties, too. I am not one who claims that my county has all the best ore. Some counties may have richer ore than ours, but we have veins in Gwinnett which the mill tests show carry more than $12 of gold to the ton, and the tailings assayed $2.06, enough to pay the expenses of mining." A five-stamp mill near Buford, in Gwin-nett, is doubling its capacity and will be ready to resume work next month,

The big mill at Villa Rica is getting ready to start up next week. The English people who are interested there are not talking much about what they have. They have made quite an investment, and if it is profitable it will help the whole Georgia gold field, because some of the greatest capitalists of England are members of the company. It is encouraging, too, to know that the mining engineer who recommended this property is one who, it is said, has never reported adversely upon a property that his judgment was not proved to be correct later, and every property he has recommended has turned out to be better than he claimed it would be. He is extremely conserva-tive, and when he says a property is good, it proves to be so. He gets a large fee, too, for his opinions on mines, and he saves investors many times. Mr. Howland remained over yesterday. He has done a great deal to revive inter est in Georgia gold mining. He talks with firm convictions about the gold ores His idea is to organize a company with sufficient capital to work on a large scale large plants, he argues, and points to the south African and the Alaskan mines as proofs. The cost of production in any as proofs. The cost of production in any large plant is smaller in proportion than with a large plant, everything else being equal. The salaries of the principal officers are the same. The investment in the ore is the same, whether the plant be large or small. He says that there need be no fear that all the good ore will be quickly taken up. There is enough in Georgia, he states, to give an immense yield and the pay ore is scattered over several counties. It is understood that his projects are rapidly taking shape. He has secured options on some fine properties and word comes from London that the capitalists there who have the investment under consideration have practically decided to put their money in. After the first large company is under way there will be no trouble about others coming. Several inquiries were made at the state Several inquiries were made at the state geologist's office yesterday in regard to developments. Professor Yeates is giving all his spare time to the bulletin, which contains the result of the surveys by the department. Dr. Day was busy making assays of ores which have been brought in by members of the survey. Mr. Mc-Callie will probably go today to Cherokee and begin a survey of the wonderful vein which has recently been discovered up there.

The gold bulletin is awaited with a keen interest. It will not cover all the gold belt in Georgia, but it will give the surveys in several counties.

New Mexico has just issued a bulletin on her mines. The following is an extract:

on her mines. The following is an extract:
"A dispatch recently published in a New York paper stated that a prominent man of that city was informed by a leading mining house of London that the English are directing their attention to American mines more than ever, and that several experts are coming over to this country. If a favorable report is given to them a large flow of London capital may be expected in the United States. "In this connection it is stated by a distinguished mining engineer, who has given the subject much attention, that the favorite proposition with foreign investors is a low grade and large body of free-milling ore. The mine buyers of London, Berlin, Paris and, in fact, all the foreign commercial countries give preference to a company that can pay a regular dividend, however small a milling proposition—that can pay 10 per cent premium a year—and stock in such a company will sell at 200 per cent premium. Such mines are better than bonanzas."

INSIST HE HAS SOLD AUGUST

Trading in Stocks Were Again Light, the Close Being Lower-Gold Shipment Expected Saturday.

Messrs. Riordan & Co., in their cotton letter yesterday said: "Liverpool today, after opening higher, showed decided weakness and closed lower and barely steady. Our market fluctuated within narrow limits and closed a few points lower, but with tone steady. August opened at 7.86, sold at 7.87 and closed at 7.84 bid. The uncertainty in regard to what Mr. Inman is doing kept the traders all agog. Many insist that he has sold August heavily through other houses within the past day two, while others declare that he is still increasing his line of long coalon. We ourselves are inclined to doubt the latter statement. We think it likely enough that May and June will be subjected to a further squeeze, but unless there should be very bad crop news we expect to see the whole list lower before july."

Closed quiet: sales 14.200 bales. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter New York, April 29.—Liverpool was adversely affected today by the good crop accounts, the larger shipment to Great Britain than expected and the selling by exporters of the summer positions with which they had hedged their shipments. Our market opened unchanged to a shade lower, being supported by the interest supposed to be identified with the movement to advance of the sumport was particularly nobe identified with the movement to advance prices. This support was particularly noticeable upon the May and June positions and afterwards on the August positions and afterwards on the August position. Traders are disposed to close their transactions in the months supposed to be affected by this manipulation and await results. Commission houses are doing little, as they cannot advise their friends to buy cotton in view of the general business situation, and they are very careful to advise them not to be tempted to sell the market short in face of a threatened squeeze. Crop accounts continue favorable. The only feature of today's transactions has been the heavy selling by one of the houses supposed to have been long, and whose cotton is believed to have passed into other bull hands. At the close the market was quiet and steady with the trade looking for a better market tomorrow for the summer posi-

Today's features: The drift of cotten prices today was downward, but, though the general disposition was to take profits on the late advance, the net decline for the day was very slight, for Mr. John H. Inman was still in the market. Liverpool news was disappointing. The early cables reported a slight advance in that market, but this was lost before the close and a decline followed. The trading was less active and entirely professional. The weekly government report was unexpectedly favorable. Liverpool sold here today. The semi-wyeekly movement was rather liberal, and the receipts at the ports today were larger than had been expected while the exports were small. The next crop months were more active. Weather advices from the south were very favorable.

The Dry Goods Market. The Dry Goods Market.

New York, April 29.—In the dry goods market business at first hands has hardly reached proportions of the past few days. The spot demand has ruled quieter for the spot demand has ruled quieter for order demand has hardly made amends for this. In several quarters agents report that their manufacturers have raised their selling limits, some of them expressing a termination to carry unsold stocks rather an let them out at prices which buyers of. Early Morning Gossip.

By private wire to the Paine-Murphy Bro-kerage Company. New York, April 29.—The Burlington and Quincy statement for two months shows a gain after all charges of $508,000, or a little more than double the deficit after the per cent dividend in the calendar year of 1895, including in the income the special dividend paid by Hannibal and St. Joe. dividend paid by Hannibal and St. Joe.
The April statement is not expected to be particularly good, but as it is generally believed that corn will start out in May, the balance of the year is expected to show very large earnings. The company has a better start for the first quarter of 1896 better start for the first quarter of 1896 than it has had in the same time for sevthan it has had in the same time for several years. The company seldom earns much on the common in the first five months of the year, although in big corn years March has often been one of the March, and it is confidently expected the annual report will show a fraction over 4 per cent earned.

The advance in Gas has been on a rumor that litigation in regard to the payment of the dividend has been adjusted and that action favorable to the stockholders is likely to come soon. People identified with the property have insisted all along that there would be favorable developments for the stockholders in the way of dividends as soon as necessary steps could be taken.

terday. There was some room buying, but it looks as if long stock had been sold, though a feeling that there might be unfavorable developments on the other side. Some of the floor brokers of leading houses are advising that the market will be better. Commission business has been light.

Closing Stock Review.

New York, April 29 .- New York News Bureau.—The stock market opened strong on London support, due to the prompt announcement of the communication of the death sentence of the Johannesburg con-spirators. Speculation did not broaden, however, and commission houses had few

The improvement did not make much ogress, and there was a weaker tone in the afternoon on indications that remittance of gold would have to be made to Europe next Saturday. Gold Shipments Expected.

Gold Shipments Expected.

New York, April 29.—The impression is growing in financial circles that considerable gold will be shipped to Europe on Saturday. It is believed that Heidelback, Ichelheimer & Co. and Lazard Freres will forward $1,000,000 each. At the subtreasury it was stated that no orders for the metal had been received as yet, but the idea prevails that some gold will be exported on the day named until the exchange market weakens in the meantime. Today sterling was stronger and the supply of bills measer.

The Gold Reserve. Washington, April 29.—Treasury gold reserve at the close of business today stood at $125,425,082. The day's withdrawals were $108,100.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Government Report on Foreign Crops Caused Weakness in Wheat.

go, April 29.—But a slight local as was transacted in wheat today. business was transacted in wheat today. Until a short time after noon the tone was firm at a moderate advance over yesterday's closing figures, and the bulls were congratulating themselves on that fact, and were even led to predicting better things, but in the light of subsequent happenings it was proved that their confidence was misplaced. Attention was attracted to the prevailing wet weather in the northwest, and that was the main argument of the strength. The government report on foreign crops, which came to hand during the last hours, however, blasted the hopes of further improvement and imparted enough weakness to carry prices to the lewest point of the session, which was slightly under the final quotations of Tuesday. July wheat opened from 64%6659s. Ye, tuder yesterday. Cash wheat was steady. steady.
Corn obtained material assistance from wheat early, and was likewise subjected to the weakening inuffence from the same source later. Nothing else in the situadepreciation. Business was extremely dull, and no symptoms of a revival in activity were apparent. July corn opened at 30%c., sold between 30½@30%c and 30%c., closing at the inside, &c. under yesterday. 'Cash corn was steady.'

Oats were steady until the other grains broke, when they, too, lost under the effect produced by the general depression. Early there was neither buying force nor selling pressure to cause particular alterations in prices. July oats closed a shade lower than yesterday. Cash oats were steady and unchanged.
Provisions—Hogs were quoted irregular Steady and unchanged.

Provisions—Hogs were quoted irregular this morning and product opened steady, disregarding both the strength and weak features of the yards market. Some transferring of trades from near to distant positions took place, and that went to make up the bulk of the business transacted. Like everything else on the floor, provisions displayed weakness late in the session. July pork closed 7½c. lower, July lard, unchanged, and July ribs, 5c. lower.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. Chicago, April 29.—The wheat market opened firm and ruled steady until shortly after midday, when considerable weakness best months.

The market for refined sugar yesterday was not active. The few orders that were received were for small lots. The trade is working on supplies recently accumulated.

Pacific Mail's fiscal year ends tomorrow night. If net earnings in the month of April are not better than they were in March the company will have earned in the year 3% per cent on the stock, including the renewal fund. April is understood to have been, considerably better than March, and it is confidently expected the annual report will show a fraction over 4 per cent earned.

were exceedingly favorable, especially of Argentine, which says of the country that the crop is now put at 55,000,000 bushels, and it is believed from 20,000,000 to 35,000,000 will be available to Europe. This is a larger crop than previously estimated, but some $24,000,000 smaller than a year ago. Lake tonnage was hard to secure at less than 2c. to Buffalo. Shipments from Duluth were again large at nearly 102,000,000. Seaboard clearances were light at 54,000. The expectation of continued large northwest receipts, the favorable crop reports at home and abroad and the light outside trade are the bearish factors. The wet weather in the northwest seems to be the only steadying influence.

weather in the horthwest seems to be the only steadying influence.

The only feature in corn has been the buying of May and selling of July by a local concern. Clearances were 228,000 bushels. Cables were a trifle lower and receipts rather light. Samples were steady. The market was firm early but developed weakness in sympathy with wheat.

Hog product continues heavy, depressed and lower. Too many hogs for the trade, Receipts were over the estimate and packers were sellers of provisions. Stocks were estimated at 150,000 barrels (old and new), 170,000 tierces lard and 37,000,000 pounds of ribs.

Grain Notes. (By private wire to the Paine-Murphy Brokerage Company). Chicago, April 29.—The government week-y weather crop bulletin has been generally favorable to farm work; winter wheat shows improvement in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Obio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and is doing well in Iowa, Missouri and portions of Illinois In Indiana the condition is fine. Spring wheat seeding, is nearly completed in the wheat seeding, is nearly completed in the southern portion of the spring wheat belt. A LARGE DAM

Which Will Furnish Water Power During Dry Weather. Eufaula, Ala., April 29.—(Special.)— Messrs. James and John Sherry, of this county, have now under construction a dam across the waters of the Chewalla creek, running near the boundary of the city, which when completed will be thirty-five feet high and 100 feet long, and is estimated to afford water power twenty feet deep during the dryest season. This will be conducted through an iron piping four feet in diameter and 125 feet long on to a turbine water wheel that will operate a large grist mill and ginnery and also a saw for a wood yard to supply the city trade. In addition to this they propose to use the same power in operating their factory, which has been closed down for the past three or four years. The undertaking will involve an expenditure of not less than five or six thousand dollars, but Mr. Sherry is a gentleman whose experience as an engineer has always been fraught with success, and having ample means he has every confidence in the scheme. Other small manufactories are spoken of in connection with it and his success promises to mark a new era in the rapid progress the city is making along this line. to a turbine water wheel that will operate

A new weekly newspaper known as The Harvey Hustler, edited by Harvey English and advocating the free and unlimited coinage of silver, is another feature of the city's progress. The paper at present is being printed away from home, but the management contemplates having its own outfit in a very short time.

The primaries for the municipal election here are appointed for May 5th. Mayor P. B. McKenzie, the present incumbent, will be opposed by Mr. H. C. Glenn.

KELLOGG TALKS ON SILVER.

Says if the Democrats Adopt a Free Silver Platform They Will Win.

New York, April 29.—The World's Washington special says:

"Ex-Governor William Pitt Kellogg has just returned to Washington from Louistana, where he has been managing the campaign in the interest of Speaker Reed. The Louisiana delegation, said he, 'will not be for McKinley. The situation in the south is very foggy, and many remain so up to the meeting of the convention. I do not, however, see any walkover for McKinley. The thing that surprises me most is the tremendous sweep which the free silver sentiment is having in the south and west. It is no use for the republican party to shut its eyes to it. There will undoubtedly be a strong effort made to prevent the democratic convention at Chicago from adopting a free silver platform, but the lookout is decidedly favorable to the adoption of such a platform and the nomination of free silver candidates. If this is done the democratic party will carry every southern state, with the possible exception of West Virginia and Maryland. Silver Platform They Will Win. this is done the democratic party will carry every southern state, with the possible exception of West Virginia and Maryland, and every state west of the Mississippi, except, perhaps. Nebraska. Then they will put up a terrific fight for control of the central western states. If both the repulican and democratic conventions adopt gold standard platforms and the silver element should nominate such a man as Cameron or Teller, the election would be thrown into the house of representatives, where the three highest candidates would be balloted for by states voting as units."

ENGLISH-LOWE AT HIGH NOON

Brilliant Ceremony Consummated at St. Luke's Yesterday.

AN OCCASION OF SPLENDOR

Atlanta Society Out in Full Force for the Occasion.

SCENE AT THE WEDDING BREAKFAST

Elegant Reception at the Home of Mr. W. B. Lowe After the Ceremony-Who Were There. St. Luke's cathedral has frequently been the scene of beautiful weddings, but probably in its history none will ever exceed in beauty and brilliancy, and perfection of detail, that of Miss Rebie Lowe and Mr. James W. English, Jr., solemnized at high James W. English, Jr., solemnized at high noon yesterday.

Before that hour the church was filled with hundreds of friends and admirers, and the assemblage was notable for the number of prominent and representative people it contained and the number of beautiful women who seemed to vie with one another as to the style and elegance of their gowns. The floral decorations were unusually present, and which was one of the most nagnificent private entertainments given in Atlanta Elegance and good taste were displayed in every detail and the menu was delicious and perfectly served.

The bridal table in the library was suthe original table in the horary was superb in decorations of white and green. In the center was an oblong bank of bride roses and pink-centered orchids, fringed with maiden hair ferns. Candelahran held with the maid held. bras held white tapers, that made brilliant the whole, and at each plate were sprays of lilies of the valley and orchids. Cut glass in profusion added to the richness of detail. The mirrors were veiled with tulle and garlands of smilax, held in place by bunches of bride roses. The souvenir cars were unique and dainty in heir appropriate decorations of wedding ells and orange blossoms, and were the artistic work of Miss Mai Waring. In the white and gold parlor the bridal party received their congratulations under a bower of pink roses. The same flowers were the principal decorations of the main ning hall, where the guests were served from a round table splendid in its adorn-ment of roses and ferns.

The staircase in the main hall had garlands of pink carnations, while palms and tropical plants were in artistic profusion

The Mexican orchestra furnished delightful music during the entire breakfast and reception, and Signor and Madame Pasquali sang several beautiful and appropriate se lections. Miss Lowe, since her debut in society, has been an acknowledged belle. She is of the loveliest blonde type with a queenly physique and bearing.

Her friends are innumerable and her popularity was emphasized by the number of elegant gifts presented to her on the occasion of her wedding.

Mr. English enjoys the reputation of be-college girl, while the third was the lordly and ponpous effort of Henry Irving.

Miss Maud Jacoby is a delightful dancer. The two little children have a taient which would even now fill any opera house were their merits as fully known as they should be. They will repeat their performance on Friday afternoon in the Hebrew Orphans' home, on Washington street, to which all the children of the city are invited.

Mr. W. H. Brittain, of New York, is visiting the family of Dr. and Mrs. Char Jones, on Peachtree street.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys Castleman and Miss Castleman are on a visit to Columbus, Ga., for a few weeks.

Mrs. L. F. Yancy and the Misses Lanier, of West Point, are stopping at the Ara

Previous to their arrival an artistic musical programme was rendered, in which well known artists took part. Signor Pas-quali, accompanied by Senor Pauli and Mr. Shultz, sang Merchandante's "Ave Maria," and the "Swan's Song," from Lohen-grein. His magnificent voice in its perfect cultivation, never appeared to better advantage. Following Pasquali was Professor Leo Wheat, of Richmond, Va., who as organist at the Monumental church of that city has won an enviable position in musical circles. He played several appropriate and classical selections, and was followed by Professor Pauli, who played the wedding march as the bridal party

As an accompaniment to the performance of the Jacoby children, there was a pleasing programme given by the members of the Hebrew Association. The piano solo by Mr. 1. N. Mayer, "Marche Hongroise," was one which demonstrated his delicacy of touch and skill in execution. Master Leonard Haas rendered a beautiful violin solo, accompanied by his brother on the plano, and drew unstituted applause. The violoncello solo by Mr. Oscar Papenheimer was another feature of the programme of highest merit. Mr. 1. Owen delighted the audience with a vocal solo, eliciting the applause which he always receives. The accomparaments for the Jacoby children were played by Miss Clemmie Haas. No one should fail to witness this performance in the Hebrew Orphans' home on Friday afternoon.

WAS QUICK WORK.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC McKINLEYITE LANDS IN JAIL YESTERDAY.

Robbed a Man, Was Caught, Tried and Sent to Jail in Less Than an Hour.

The record for quick work in the arrest rial and commitment of a criminal was proken in Atlanta late yesterday afternoon. A negro robbed a man of five dollars and a half, was caught, arrested, locked police headquarters, taken to Judge drum's court, tried and was placed in a cell at the county jail all in exactly fifty five minutes. There is no case on record

Jim Glenn is a great big negro well known about town as a dead game sport. He was one of the leading lights yesterday in the republican state convention and McKinley wes much of his success to the efforts of this ardent admirer. Jim was walking leisurely down Decatur street about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he happened to meet Jerry Dilliard, another prom inent republican leader of the state. two statesmen had been so much concerned with the affairs of government during the day that they thought they would take a little recreation, and proceeded to the rear of a Decatur street emporium.

Jerry happened to display a five-dollar bill during the conversation, and no sooner had he done so than Jim snatched the lucre and was off in an instant. Jerry quickly gave pursuit, and in very short while half a hundred people had joined in the chase. The fugitive was caught by Officer W. F. Whitley, however, and was landed in a cell at the station house. He was then taken to Judge Landrum's cour

JUMBO'S JOB ON TAP

His Application for Office Delayed One Month.

COAL DEALERS AND COUNCIL

They Apply to the City Government To Mave Tax of Dealers Increased. What the Plan Is.

Jumbo Hunter's application for the position of assisstant inspector came up before the council committee on taxes yesterday afternoon, and action on the matter was delayed for one month.

It will be remembered that a short time ago Captain Amos Baker was elected by the council to fill the position of assistant license inspector, his term of service being limited to six months. The aldermanic board amended the action by the council by making the term for one month.
This was approved by the council and Capta'n Baker's term of office will and Capital Basers at the end of that time. When Jumbo's application was presented to the committee yesterday afternoon, the committee decided to take no action until the next meeting, by which time Captain Baker's term will have expired. Should he apply for re-election, both his and Hunter's names will come before the committee for action. Jumbo appeared before the committee Councilman Bell, the chairman, presiding, and presented his case in a speech. He reviewed his long term of service as a city official, and assured the committee of his ability and intention to serve the city faithfully and well. No action was taken, however, and it will lie between him and Captain Amos Baker, who now holds the position, when the committee next meets.

The conversation with members of the committee develops the probability that no one will be elected to the office of assistant license inspector for the next six months, as it is claimed that Inspector Saxe will be able to fulfill the required luties without any assistant during the

The Coal Dealers' Petition. The petition of the leading coal dealers of the city, requesting that the license tax on coal and wood yards be raised from $25 to $100 a year, payable annually, and that a hange be made in the public scales was also presented to the committee.

This petition is signed by almost all of the larger coal and wood dealers. It is claimed in the petition that under the present tax, which is $25 a year, payable in quarterly installments, a great many smal dealers open ccal and wood yards all over the city as the winter months approach; that they have no intention of staying in the business during the year, and that after paying the first installment of the tax they go out of business, thereby cutting into the business of the regular dealers, and gaining the advantages of the heavy fall trade without paying the full tax. This, it is claimed, is an injustice to the large dealers, who comply fully with the

The petitioners further request that the present law governing the public scales be changed. Under the present system, the city operates two public scales at a cost of about $1,500 per year. These scales are at the service of the public, and any one who thinks be is being given short measure has a right to have the coal hauled to the public scales, and weighed by the city. The dealers wish the law so changed that each yard may have its own weigher, who shall be put on oath, and if necessary give bond for the faithful performance of his duty; that the number of public scales be reduced to one, and that an official of the city be endowed with authority to stop any coal or wood wagon at pleasure and require t to go to the public scales and be weigh-d, to see that the weighing at the yards has been accurately done. By anauguratsuch a system, the dealers claim that the city will save money and that the interests of the men who go into the business to stay, and with sufficient capital to conduct a legitimate business will be guardd against the small yards which operate for only a few weeks, and cut into the regular trade, without paying the city the full yard's license. The petition also re-quests that the tax of $100 paid he paid in ne lump on July 1st

As the city tax ordinance at present searing on the case was made effective for one year, from July 1st, the committee refused to take any action on the matter un til the time for revising the present laws comes up at the last meeting in May. At that time the petition will be considered and action taken

The petition is signed by almost every leading coal and wood merchant in the city. A number of coal men, including Mr. George Sciple, Mr. Black Dunn, Mr. George P. Howard and others appeared before the committee and made speeches in behalf of the petition.

COLUMBUS CHANGES HANDS.

Strouthers Is Out and the Railroad Company Has the Franchise.

Columbus Ga., April 29.-(Special.)-A meeting was held this afternoon at the Rankin house of the representatives of the clubs of the Southern Baseball League the clubs of the Southern Baseball League at which New Orleans was represented by Mr. Powers; Atlanta by Mr. Oppenheim; Columbus by Mr. J. C. Strouthers, and the other club, by proxy.

Manager Strouthers, of the Columbus club, handed in his resignation as manager of the team, being dissatisfied with the small gate receipts.

The franchise was promptly taken up by the Columbus Railroad Company, under whose management the club will now be operated.

Mr. Strouthers, the retiring manager, made a perfectly satisfactory statement be operated.

Mr. Strouthers, the retiring manager, made a perfectly satisfactory statement of the financial condition of the club. While the street railway company will run the club, yet the company expects some aid from the public, and for this purpose a meeting of citizens has been called for Friday afternoon to take action in the matter.

The matter of prolonging the season's schedule did not come up at this afternoon's meeting, all the cities not being represented in person, but will at a later one.

President Powers stated tonight that the present schedule would very probably be lengthened.

THE LEADERS LOSE.

The New Orleans Team Takes the Last Game of the Series.

Montgomery, Ala., April 29.—New Orleans took the third game from Montgomery today with all ease. The locals had forgotten how to hit, while the visitors seemed to have just learned the art. The locals made a number of costly errors and the few hits they secured were too widely scattered to be productive of result. The score was:

THE TRACK WAS MUDDY.

The Favorites Were Withdrawn-The Result a Surprise.

Nashville, Tenn., April 29.—Of course the feature of today's racing was the Duncan hotel handicap stake at a mile for $1,000. What should have been favorites under good track conditions were with-drawn and only three were left to fight it out on a muddy track and that in the rain Imp. Sauteur, who won both Monday and Tuesday, was the one which staid, and he convinced the talent that he loved the mud like a hound pup takes to pot l'quor.

Maurice, the favorite, finished second and Ben Eder, the 2 to 5 for place shot, went last, while Sauteur took the stake, running easy. In the fourth and fifth races a few were touted on Barney Adler and Lord Willowbrook for the place and these were good things. Throughout the day the book-ies had a comfortable margin the best of it. The Horse Green Was Riding Went Down with Him.

Washington, April 23.—Continued interest is manifested in the racing at Bennings. The field was attractive today. Shakespeare II, the handsome Walden's colt, was scratched from the Capitol stakes event, while the steeplechase was minus Hia-while the steeplechase was minus Hiawasse.

In this event occurred the second mishap of the meeting, when Gold Dollar, making a cyclonic rush for additional laurels, lost his footing as he went over the last hurdle in the long run and threw his rider, Green. The rider was for a few seconds prone on his back on the turf, with the breath literally knocked out of him. The horse, which had not fallen upon him, was soon on his feet and the jockey was quickly carried off and made as comfortable as possible. Beyond a bad shaking he is not seriously hurt. First race, six furlongs, Tinge, 106, Ryers, 5 to 2, won; The Swain second, Hanwell third. Time, 1:14 4-5.

AT RESACA CEMETERY.

Interesting Exercises Will Be Held There on May 15th.

Calhoun, Ga., April 29 .- (Special.)-Th enfederate memorial exercises which were to have taken place at the Resaca cemetery May 2d, have been postponed to Friday May 15th, at which time some very interesting features are promised.

General Phillips will bring up a considera ble party from Atlanta, among whom will be ex-Governor R. B. Bullock, who has taken great interest in the improvement of the cemetery. Colonel W. P. McClatchy, of Chattanooga, will also be present and make a speech, and so will Colonel W. C. Glenn and other distinguished orators. The day will be a great one and a very large crowd will attend.

FRUIT GROWERS TO MEET.

They Will Gather at Calhoun-Other Rome, Ga., April 29.—(Special.)—Captain G. H. Miller, president of the North Georgia Fruit Growers' Association, has decided to call another meeting to be held in Calhoin in Jure. Quite a number of papers will be read and topics of interest discussed at that meeting. News from Rome.

His Home Buried. Night before last the bome of Mr. S. D. Taliaferro, a prominent farmer living near Plainville, was burned. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin and nothing was saved. The loss amounts to several thousand dollars. The building had just been completed and was well finished. About a year ago Mr. Taliaferro lost his barn and stables in a similar manner.

THEY WANT AN ORDER PASSED

To Prevent Interference with Military Exercises

Savannah, Ga., April 29 .- (Special.)-The Confederate Veterans' Association met to-night and passed resolutions appointing a mmittee to confer with the military authorities of the city and ask them to pe tition the governor to pass an order pro hibiting, under penalty, any military company from interfering in any manner with any Memorial Day exercises. These res-olutions were passed after much discussion. They result from the intrusion on Monday of the colored military company, the Chat-ham Light Infantry, on the Confederate Veterans during their exercises.

Captain Law, of the negro company, said he had no intention of intruding and thought the exercises over when he went to the grounds.

Hanceck's County Court.

It Would Not Pay.

Columbus, Ga, April 29.—(Special.)—A few days ago the board of trade forwarded a petition to Savannah to the Central railway officials, asking that an early norning train be placed on the Mobile and Girard railroad, between here and Union Girard railroad, between here and Union Springs, a convenience that is greatly needed. The board has been advised by the railroad, however, that an early train on this road, which was maintained for a long time, did not pay, and the present schedule covering most of the travel along the road which is mostly by country people who come to Columbus. The railroad would like to accommodate the people, it is stated, but an extra train on this road would not even pay the expense of operating it. perating it.

It Is Badly Needed.

Savannah, Ga., April 29.—(Special.)— Savannah's business and commercial men have been telegraphing Washington to have reinserted in the river and harbor bill the appropriation for carrying on the work on the Savannah harbor, the senate committee having stricken out the pro-vision with regard to it made in the house. The appropriation is needed immediately to prevent improvements already made from deterioation.

To the People of the South, Greeting:

We have recently bought out the entire stock of Donald M. Bain, Nos. 6 and 8 Marietta Street, consisting of Imported and Domestic Whiskies, Brandies, Gins, Liquors, etc., which will be sold in bottles or bulk at cost in order to clear out the store for our occupancy at an early date, prices of which will follow tomorrow. These bargains should be obtained while the stock lasts:

OUR NEW STORE.

Plans are maturing perfection by Mr. Norman, the architect, by which we will have the handsomest and most complete drug establishment in the entire South, with a spacious warehouse in the rear, which will constantly and quickly replace all stock as it is exhausted in our large retail establishment.

THANKS.

In conclusion, we heartily thank the people for their large and unstinted patronage during the occupancy of our small store, thus indicating that the public appreciated our services in giving them the best goods at the lowest possible cut price.

With the large, commodious and complete store which we will soon occupy, we will be enabled to throw to the breeze a flag, upon which will be inscribed "Jacobs' Pharmacy," and upon which will glitter the words: "Onward and Upward to New Respectfully, Victories!"

KELL DISBANDS FOUR COMPANIES

For Various Reasons Soldiers Leave the State's Service.

BALDWIN BLUES MARKED OFF

This Is One of the Old Historic Com-

IT EXISTED LONG BEFORE THE WAR

And Formerly Escorted Governors on Inaugural Occasions-The Others Disbanded.

Adjutant General Kell has issued a general order disbanding several of the militia companies of the state.

Among the number is the Baldwin Blues of Milledgeville: the Dalton Guards and Large Number of Graduates To Be the Eastman Volunteers. The Baldwin Blues is one of the most historical militia organizations in the state of Georgia. The company was formed long before the outbreak of the civil war Its on roster contained the names of some of the most prominent men in the state In the days when the capital was at Milledgeville it was the crack organization of the state, and acted as a kind of body guard to numerous governors.

The Blues was one of the first companies to enlist in the confederate service and for gallantry and for bravery, which called forth high compliment from General George Dole, under whom they fought.

The great majority of those who went off with the company were killed, but a few of the older citizens of Milledgeville remained to tell the tells of prekless designs.

Superpleadent Slaten is birtly pleased. mained to tell the tale of reckless daring and heroism.

At the close of the war the company was reorganized, new officers were elected, and the organization started out on a new 4th, and the exercises of the Girls' High plan. Since then it has been connected with the second Georgia battalion, and has made at times an enviable record among the militia organizations of the

The disorganization of the Baldwin Blues leaves Milledgeville without military pro-tection, and it is claimed by the officers of the defunct company that dissolution occurred because of want of sufficient cooperation upon the part of the citizens of Milledgeville. Much regret is expressed over the fact that the company has been disbanded, and it is probable that some effort will be made looking toward reor-

The Eastman Volunteers is also a well order that the Eastman Volunteers are disbanded at their own request, while the dis-bandment of the other three companies is made by order of the state for "the interest of the service." The order is as

"General Orders No. 5.—Company M. Second regiment of infantry, Georgia volunteers (Eastman Volunteers) stationed at Eastman, having decided by a mapority vote to disband, and such action having been approved by the commanding officer and sanctioned by the governor, is hereby disbanded.

and sanctioned by the governor, is hereby disbanded.

"2. Company D, Second regiment of infantry, Georgia Volunteers (Southern Rifles) stationed at Talbotton, having fallen below its enlistment and failed to elect officers, is hereby disbanded.

"3. The advisory board having certified to the governor that it would be to the interest of the service to disband company I, Third regiment infantry, Georgia volunteers(Dalton Guards) stationed at Dalton, and the governor having approved such finding, the said company is hereby disbanded.

A Clash at Savannah.

A Clash at Savannah.
Savannah, Ga., April 29.—(Special.)—
Much talk has been current with regard to the intrusion of the negro military company, the Chatham Light Infantry, on the Memorial Day exercises.

Officers of several of the commands here have taken it upon themselves to address petitions to the military authorities in change of the grounds to have them prevent the colored militia from going on the parade ground again. This ground is exclusively the property of the white military commands, and the colored militia had the use of it only by their courtesy.

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated conditional to the pleasant tion of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only ly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its bene-ficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all rep-

The case against Alford was conclusive. The case against Alford was conclusive. Not only was he found with counterfeit money on his person, but the molds were I kewise found in his possession. The money counterfeited by Alford was all in five cent pieces and though he failed to reap any large profits from the business, the violation of the law was substantially the same as if he had cleared a cool million.

No defense was put up by Alford on the inary hearing before Commissioner Broyles and none was offered on the final hearing of the case before Judge Newman

Alford is a victim of hard times. Observation of the criminal records has shown that in times of business prosperity there is very little counterfeiting done. It is only in times of financial depression, when reduced by stringent circumstances, that the counterfeiter resorts to this criminal

CLOSE OF THE SCHOOL TERM DRAWS NEAR.

Turned Out from All of the Schools in Atlanta.

When the fifth of June comes and the scholars are turned out of the High school and the grammar schools, one of the most successful years in the history of this city will be terminated.

The children and the teachers are all hard at work and when the schools close they will have completed all of the work required of them for one year. The teachers as well as the scholars have been placed to enlist in the confederate service and went through most of the bloodlest battles of the civil war, making a splendid record for gallantry and for brayery, which called year the most successful that the schools

TROUBLE FOR LANFORD.

Another Warrant Against the Detective Yesterday.

A warrant was sworn out yesterday by Peter Montgomery, a restaurant keeper against Patrolman N. A. Lanford charging him with mallcious mischief. It will be remembered that some time ago Lanford had some trouble with this same negro. Lanford, it seems, went to the place of business of the negro for the purpose of searching it. The negro demanded that the officer show him a search rant. This Lanford failed to do and negro ordered him out of the house. Lanford refused to leave the house, drew was tried before Judge Calhoun and he dismissed the case against the negro.

On being released Montgomery swore out a warrant for assault and yesterday he swore out another charging Lanford with which he claims that he was injured and his business injured to that amount on

The case comes up before Judge Landrum next Tuesday and the outcome is looked forward to with interest. The war not placed under arrest.

FELL FROM A CAR.

Mr. A. W. Coleman Painfully Injured on Angier Avenue Last Night. A. W. Coleman, a young white man, was very painfully injured by falling from an electric car Tuesday night about 9 o'clock. at the junction of Angier avenue and Pin street, near the Angier hotel, where there is a sharp curve in the track. Mr. Coleman was seated inside the car and as it man was seated misue the curve at a good rate of speed, he decided that he would go out on the front platform and enjoy a smoke. As he closed the door the car gave a quick lurch to the right, and he was thrown forebly to the pavement. The ambulance was immediately called, and the injured man was taken to his home at 194 Edgewood avenue.

Hurt was summoned, and after careful examination of Mr. Coleman's in juries, he stated that barring a few very painful bruises, there would be no serious results of the accident.

NEWS OF THE ROADS

The State Railroad Commission Has a Puzzle on Hand.

HARD TO RUN DOWN THE STOCK

It Will Try Again To Ascertain Who Owns a Majority of the Stock in the G., S. and F. Railroad.

made any announcement as yet in regard to further endeavor to get at the ownership of stock in certain roads supposed to be controlled by the Southern railway. It is accepted as a sure thing that the board will make another effort to get at the ownership of a majority of the stock in the Georgia Southern and Florida. That the Southern and its friends own the majority of that stock, no one doubts, but the point s to show it up. And then it may turn out that friends own more than the Southern, or enough to make the Southern's holding ss than a majority.

Word comes from Macon that Judge John Hall has written to the commission, the nature of the information which onveys is not known. It is supposed be rather vague. When he was before the commission on Tuesday of last week he de-clared that he did not know who owned a controlling interest in the road which he represented as counsel. The commissioners are said to be anything but satisfied with are said to be anything but satisfied with the result of their first day's work in at-tempting to run down the ownership of the stock in the roads which they think the Southern controls. The Central claims to have a stronger case than the Georgia Southern and Florida had because the Central and the Southern have no officers in common. This is not regarded as an accident, but is looked upon as a plan on the part of the Southern to keep free of dom-ination by the greater corporation. How the board can fix control by the Southern of any of these properties is not an easy solve. The prevailing impression is ne Southern has carefully and skillfully avoided being caught in this trap. Did Not Interfere.

The commissioners had a question up unicipality a few miles beyond the Chattahoochee on the Western and Atlantic railroad. Superintendent McCollom decided railroad. Superintendent McCollom decided some time ago to put up a neat station at the town. The company owned a small piece of ground on which was a spring, and it was decided to put up the station near that spring. The idea was to make a pienic ground there. But some of the citizens wanted the station at a point 300 yards nearer Atlanta. They got a temporary injunction from Judge Gober, and then they went before the commission. The members went up to Vinings and after looking the ground over, they decided that the road could locate the station where it had prothe ground over, they decided that the road could locate the station where it had proposed to put it if the company would grade a street. It was stated that nearly every property owner at Vinings wanted the station just where Major McCollom started to build it.

The Southern Pacific will substitute petroleum for coal as fuel on its engines south of Fresno. The oil supply in South-ern California had caused the company to hesitate before equipping its locomotives with tanks and spraying apparatus, but oil will be used on both the San Joaquin and Los Angeles divisions without further delay. Should the supply prove to be lasting, petroleum will be used all over the Pacific system.

The apparatus required for the use of oil on locomotives is not elaborate. The tank for the oil occupies the space in the tender now used for coal. The tank will be nade unusually strong to lessen as much is possible the danger in a collision. The il is conveyed from the tank in pipes to the firebox and supplied to a number of burners, from which it is sprayed, either by steam or compressed air. The oil pumped from the wells at Los Angeles is dense and heavy and can only be burned by spraying it over a hot flume. The storage plant to be erected at Los Angeles will be so arranged that the tank wagons from the wells can drive up an incline and deposit the oil in the big receiving tanks.

Earnings of Pennsylvania.

S. M. Prevost, general manager of the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg, has issued his annual report showing the result of the operation of the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie for the year 1855. For that year the earnings were $39,599,001, and the expenses $26,032,873. making the net earnings $13,566,128, which is an increase over 1894 of $1.713.741. The number of passengers carried was 17,988,292. The passenger business for 1895, compared with 1894, shows an increase in the number of passenger mileage of 21.173,240. There was an increase in expenses of $245,164.67, and an increase in expenses of $245,164.67, and an increase in profits of $154.211.93.

The total number of tons of freight moved was 46,545,093, the earnings $39,472.734, expeases $20,394,803 and the profits $10,007,331. The freight business for 1895, as compared with 1894, shows an increase in the number of tons moved of 9,978,164, and, an increase in tontage mileage of 989,884,291. The Purchasers of the Marietta and North Georgia Must Pay Up.

Under the recent modification of Judge Newman's decree the purchasers of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad have only a few days in which to raise the balance of the money due on the purchase of the road. The decree provides for the sale of the Tennessee division of the road on next Monday, the 4th of May, and for the sale of the Georgia division at Marietta, Ga., on Wednesday, the 6th of May. If the sum of $100,000 is not paid within the time allowed under the amended terms of the decree the property will be exposed for sale to the highest bidder. In the event this sum of money is paid further indulgence will be allowed the purchasers on the balance of what was known at first as the second payment. At the sale last December the property sold for $956,000. Of this amount $92,500 was paid down cash and the second payment was fixed at $157,500. This payment has never been made and the failure to carry out the terms of the agreement has given rise to the present embarrassment.

The property was sold last winter at a great sacrifice to satisfy mortgage creditors, who held securities against the road for something like $5,000,000. If the money is not paid this week the property will be sold a second time. Com-

The second mortgage bondholders claim that they cannot find a purchaser at the upset price of $350,000 fixed by the court. The property is subject to a lien of $2,212,000 in the shape of a first mortgage, on which two payments of interest have been defaulted.

Railroad Commission Meets Today. The railroad commission meets today at 1 o'clock at the offices of the departmen in the capitol. Among other matters to cume up will be the petition of the Geor gia Fruit Growers' Association, asking for reduction on the rate of canned goods. Mr. J. D. Cunningham, of Marietta, the president of the association, was in Atlanta yesterday, and brought to the at-tention of the commission the resolution passed at the last meeting of the fruit growers, asking for a reduction on the rate for empty cans shipped into Georgia to be filled. This matter will also probably come before the commission today.

JUMPED FROM SECOND FLOOR

Made a Futile Attempt To Get Away Before, but Watched for a Chance To Jump.

G. B. Blair, who says he is a railroad man, secured him a dangerous looking pistol yesterday morning and went to the room's occupied by his wife and her sister. He proceeded to drive them into the street at the point of the pistol, threatening to kill them if they remained.

They ran through the streets pursued by Blair, and a great deal of excitement was created by the unusual spectacle. Mrs Blair met Officer Thompson, who was near by. Thompson went to the conrner of Whitehall and Mitchell street and told Blair that he was wanted. Blair stated that he was willing to go with the officer, but on arriving at the door of the store in which he was arrested he made a break for liberty. The officer had foreseen this movement and before Blair could get out of reach grabbed him by the coattail and pulled him back.

Blair drew his pistol and made several attempts to shoot the officer, and but for the timely interference of Mr. J. M. Cole-man might have succeeded.

Blair was sent to the station house and a charge of assault with intent to murder entered against him by Officer Thompson. He was arrested at about 11 o'clock and at 12:30 he was taken to Judge Orr's courtroom, on Broad street, to be given a preliminary hearing. His case for hearing today and his bond fixed at looking the sidewalk. A bailiff and one or two other persons were in the room with him and a very close watch was kept on him to see that he did not make a break for the door. Blair sat in the window and while the persons in the room were look-ing in another direction he quietly stepped on the tin awning over the sidewalk, slid down a pole and made his escape. s soon as his escape was discovered bailiff set out after him, but he had such a start that they soon gave up the chase. It is thought that Blair has left town and a search is being made for him.

The case against him is said to be a very strong one and if he is caught it will probably go hard with him. No one can be blamed for the escape of Blair. He was being watched by the officers, but he escaped in such an unex-pected manner that there was general con-sternation in the room for a while, and the pursuit was in that way delayed for some

NAME A CHIEF

Police Board Will Name a Head of Detectives Tomorrow.

MANY CANDIDATES ARE OUT

And the Scramble for the Place Will Be Lively-Duties of the Officer.

A new chief of detectives to succeed the leposed chief, Wright, will be named tomorrow night and there will be a lively race for the place. Chairman Branan said vesterday that he would call a meeting of the police board for tomorrow night to name the new chief. The election will be made under the new act of council providing for the election of a chief of the detective department. This act was approved by Mayor King last Saturday and at that time became a law. The law provides that the new chief of the depar ment shall have the rank of sergeant and receive the pay of a sergeant. This is Th's is a much smaller salary than Chief Wright drew. He got the nice salary of $1.800 per year and it was said around poice headquarters that he had a snap. Cer. tainly his duties were no heavier than those of the new chief will be. The duties of the man to be elected will, in fact, be almost exactly the same as those Chief Wright had to perform. The chief of the detective department will, of course, be answerable to Chief Connoily and will have to make his reports and receive orders from that official. The new chief, however, will have the directing of the however, will have the directing of the movements of the members of work in the special cases that come up before the department. In short the new official will work just exactly as Wright worked, but will not have the rank Wright had nor receive the same pay.

There will be a scramble for the place. For several days a number of active can-didates have been energetically in the field. Among those who are working for election are Patrolman John N. Abbott, Detective Sewell, Patrolman Frank Whit-ley, ex-Detective Wooten and others. Abbott has been callman at the police station for a number of years and for a time was secretary of the Police Relief Association. He made a good officer. Sewell also filled this place in the Relief Association, has acted as call officer and for a time has been on the detective force. His record as an officer is good. Whitley acted as rd as an officer is good. Whitley acted as sergeant during the exposition and was commended by his superiors for good ser-vice. Wooten served a long time as a de-tective and was faithful in that work. He

He is a quiet and steady officer. There may be a lively contest for the lace and the division in the board may be hown in the selection of a detective chief. No one can teil who is ahead in the race for the place and it is predicted that a man who has not been named in connection with the office will be elected. The election would probably have oc-curred yesterday but for the absence of Commissioner Beauprie, Mr. Beauprie has

Excursion to Tampa.

Those of our people who went on the personally conducted excursion to Tampa, run last year by the Georgia Southern and Florida railway, will remember with pleasure their enjoyable experience and will be pleased to learn that the Georgia Southern and Florida will run another excursion to Tampa on Monday, May 25th. It is intended by the passenger department to make this excursion even more enjoyable than that of last year. Arrangements are being inade to give the excursionists cheap trips to the fishing grounds and down the Manatee river to the orange groves. There are many interesting points in and around Tampa, among which are Ybor City and West Tampa, with their large cigar factories and Cuban population; Tampa bay letel, the largest and most richly furrished hotel in the world. With its fresh hreeze from the gulf, Tampa is a delightful place in May.

The fare for the round trip has been put at the following very low rates:

From LaGrange, 87; Macon, 87; Cordele, $5; Tifton, 84; Valdosta, 83; correspondingly low rates from intermediate points, which will enable all to take a most delightful outins.

"Minneapolis, January 14, 1886.—Gentlemen: The weary months of the Hayward trial involved a severe strain upon my nervous system and after it was over I needed absolute rest and something to quiet my nervous system. Fortunately a friend recommended Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets as a sure specific and I gave them a trial. The effects were beyond my expectations as I found almost immediate relief. My nervousness gave way to restful and spothing feelings and I could sleep and eat far better. For nervous prostration I regard Kola Nervine Tablets as invaluable. FRANK M. NYE."
